*in the beginning
there was a feeling of oneness*

Mike Gwash, Linda Antilla, Chris Frosaker, Patti Badanjak, Andy Jackson, Patti Hedican and Dave Wicklund are proof that smiles are a universal language.

"Now Freddy," reprimands Mary Ann Lambert, "mommy has to go to school, you go home and take a nap."

"I was a modest, good-natured boy; it is Roosevelt that has made me insufferable!" smiles Pete Canelake.

*but, then again,
a presence of diversity*

a feeling, real for a moment . . .

Pat Parden, Mimi Deutsch and John Foschi have formed their own chapter of Hell's Angels.

Little girls like Peggy Loberg are the nicest things that happen to people.

"Renee Edholm's in the vent?!"

"Escape is useless," sigh Kathy Gross and Curt Bocchi.

"This is all strictly confidential, but ..." whispers Linda Lucarelli to Kathy Egger and Jean Biondich.

"There is a house in New Orleans, they call the Rising Sun," sings Sally Trenti.

*but then again,
gone into thoughts
and worries*

*This three seasoned year,
a whirling mixture of excitement, boredom,
ideas, fun and changing classes,
was partly populated by those over twenty.
This interesting breed of awesome teachers,
less awesome teachers, authority figures,
and friends have added to our year,
our knowledge, and our lives.*

ACADEMICS

"Gee, give me a break! I never had any of this when I was a kid!" pleads Louis Knoll.

"Yes, I'm building my own geodesic dome in my backyard," bashfully admits Francis Sevcik.

"Well, if you insist, I suppose I could do it," says Doug Johnson.

Algebra and plane geometry plus the higher and harder courses, namely, higher algebra, advanced senior math, and computer programming, temporarily baffle even the best students. Not only expert leadership, but also the dreaded homework is necessary to wade through the clear-as-mud theorems, axioms, and corollaries.

Mathematics also plays an important part in daily life. If a person becomes a carpenter, geometry aids him in his endeavor. A farmer may use algebra to estimate his profits; a businessman must be able to work with graphs and statistics.

Geometry is intermingled with all of the water flowing in the turbulent river of mathematics.

— Francis Sevcik

"My overhead viewer is broken and no one will fix it!" pouts a saddened James Rowbottom.

"Wow — psychedelic chemistry apron, Mr. Pastika," snickers Steve Sandstedt and Rich Olson.

"Who said I'm camera shy?" blushes Roger Nelson.

We ask ourselves in biology, "Wouldn't it be pleasanter if specimens were preserved in Chanel No. 5 instead of in formaldehyde?" "Did you know that I am a homo sapien?"

Shakespeare's timeless "Double, double, toil and trouble, fire burn and caldron bubble" describes chemistry more aptly than any more modern phrasing.

Trying to clarify a maze of experimental directions, using equations and formulas, operating bunsen burners, levers, and scales, we finally learn to conduct an experiment. If only Galileo could see us now. Oh — the results don't agree with the formula! "Mr. Somero, what do we do now?" And so, the complications of a physics course engulf us.

That's right Mr. Somero iXNIHL

"You're getting an A! Ha, that is a joke," chuckles Harold Schmitke.

"I think my finger is burning!" exclaims unconcerned Michael Westlund.

Sheldon Johnson asks, "Who said the sky is falling, the sky is falling?"

Ellen Korpy in the midst of one of her highly articulate lectures on German pronunciation.

Plural possessives are hard enough in English, but did you ever try them in German, Spanish, or French? Students who do attempt the foreign language courses discover that these classes can be interesting. The capable teachers enliven sessions by the use of phonograph records, films, and skits.

"Tsk tsk, another messy notebook," chuckles Wayne Christiansen.

"You say there's proof?" asks Patricia Proznick.

Ruth Schultz bubbles with devilish glee at the prospect of usurping Darryl Swenson's speech class.

"Now class, our next speech of demonstration will be on the habits of the Alaskan Eskimo," says Darryl Swenson.

freedom in speech

Speech I is a course designed to give the student who enjoys performing the chance to do so. It can also give confidence to the student who lacks it in a speaking situation. Debate, discussion, drama, and public speaking are some of the areas covered.

A pensive Darryl Swenson ponders the idiosyncracies of human nature while awaiting his next class.

"I want a buck-buck-bucket!" insists Ruth Schultz.

"Guess what class? Another quiz!" kids Sharon Johnson.

"Of course it tickles!" says Jeff Johnson.

Sophomore English concentrates on the study of the language as a mode of artistic and practical expression. The short story, novel, drama, poetry, and non-fiction are studied not only for basic content, but also for universal ideas that are relevant to man and his environment. It is from the study of these universal ideas that discussion and composition topics are derived to stimulate students thought and action. Hopefully students will gain insights concerning themselves and their world.

— Wayne Slater

English II is designed to give an overall survey of the major writers and major ideas of American literature, beginning with Colonial times and continuing to the present. Concurrent with the study of American literature is the study of American language . . . origins, its dialects, its usage.

— Ila Larsen

Wayne Slater sighs, "Why is it always me?"

Jean Stolberg smiles as Marc Rabideau tells her of his misfortune which occurred while storming the Bastille in "The Tale of Two Cities".

teacher: name two pronouns

student: who? me?

Marguerite Hendrickson explains the aspects of the Puritan religion.

The tribulations of an English student, or why there is a shortage of English teachers. "Why doesn't Chaucer speak English?" "But, 'it's me' sounds all right." "What does recalcitront mean?" "What's bugging Macbeth anyway?"

LaVine Hurd smiles as she corrects Jim Strle's Scarlet Letter test.

Kathy Chopp listens intently as Miss Larsen whispers another Finlander joke.

Don't take it so hard, Miss Larsen. The bell will ring soon enough.

"My heavens, but you startled me!" cries out Ila Larsen.

to teach is to learn

Creative writing is one of the most interesting classes offered to Senior students this year. In creative writing, the student has a chance to put into words what he feels about different things in life, through poetry, short compositions, and short stories.

— Mary Lambert

Mr. Thomas Moeller shows his continual thirst for knowledge as he grasps for more information to further explain a point.

"Students, Bacchus is the Roman god of wine," bellows Mr. Moeller.

"Current literature is a course which focuses its attention upon selected readings that will hopefully help to acquaint the student with the more predominant philosophical trends of thought that exist today in the Twentieth Century. Current literature is demanding and it involves an extensive amount of reading and writing in the form of papers discussing issues dwelt on in the books read. Current lit is not a Great Books course, although the books are great. Nor is it a Great Issues course, though there are no greater issues. If anything specifically great, this course is a great personal experience."

— Tom Moeller

"To teach or not to teach, that is the question," says Amy Beckstrom in a philosophical mood.

Willard Miller questions, "Mr. Cimperman, are you trying to be factitious?"

Mrs. Omarza comments, "Very interesting."

Jerome Vitse comments, "Just another uneventful day in World History."

the world situation — what a problem

Mary Harrington certainly knows how to instill interest into World History.

Nancy Peterson displays her most recent dental work to her U.S. History class.

American History is a general survey course with special emphasis upon present times. Of special concern is the hope that through the story of United States History the individual will realize more fully his responsibility as an enlightened citizen in the greatest of all the democratic processes now known to man.

— Nancy Peterson

A survey of world history noting the great movements which have affected man's development since the beginning of recorded time is the primary objective in the teaching of tenth grade history.

— Mary Harrington

If you want to learn how to earn money, take Economics; if you want to learn how to spend money, take sociology; and if you want to graduate, take World History, United States History, and Civics (required subjects).

"Gee, I like my job!" exclaims George Munig.

"Well, students, I believe there are a few more F's today," sighs Frank Rukavina.

"Guess what I've got in store for you," schemes Mr. Munig to his unsuspecting students.

"Oh, was that flab," drums out Wilbur Geary.

"Well, I guess I made my third mistake of the year," blunders Dallis Frandsen.

"I'd like to make one thing perfectly clear," preaches Keith Davis, "I am the director of this orchestra."

Wonder whether whoever said that "Music hath charms to soothe the wild beast" meant the rehearsals or the polished performances of the instrumental department? To calculate the amount of enjoyment received from listening to the Virginia music department's concerts would be as difficult a task as to tabulate the hours of practice which preceded their debuts. "Tenors — sing out!" yells Dallis Frandsen. "Your vowels are too thin, sopranos." "Altos, you're sticking out!" "Basses, you sound like airplanes."

The result: performances from our vocal music department worthy of all our praise.

Their reward: satisfaction over a job well done.

"Where's my sponge? Where's my sponge?" asks Dallis Frandsen.

"And a one, and a two, and a three, and a . . ." counts Wilbur Geary.

Art isn't a hard subject; all one has to be is versatile, talented, and willing to work. The versatility is required because one draws anything from Christmas decorations to comic-book characters. Talent, if a person has any, will surely find some canvas to express itself. Willingness to work, it appears, is simply a requisite for getting an "A" and some recognition.

"I told you to paint, but that doesn't mean my room!" exclaims Anne Moberg.

"You mean the students, headed by Miss Moberg, decorated this gym in just a week!" comments Dave Moesenthin.

art is a jealous thing;
it requires the whole and entire man.

"Mark my words — one of these days I'll be famous," prophecies Willard Miller.

"Hmmm, it seems so much easier when my students do it," sighs John Beste.

Julie Krantz hammers home a point to a recalcitrant student.

Mr. Nelson looks up in disbelief at an answer given on one of his tests.

news moves the world

"One reason it's better to breathe through your nose is that it keeps your mouth shut," advises Marianne Krause.

"I get more dangling modifiers!" grumbles Marianne Krause.

In the United States, where the press is free, newspapers have helped to bring about reforms and innovations.

The VHS Journalism course attempts to provide background in communications and study's the world of newspapers.

Some people believe that Journalism should not be offered in VHS. But you ask any student who took Journalism and he'll tell you differently.

"All right, let's clean 'er up," orders Norman Stockey to his students.

"You mean 2+2 doesn't equal 5?" asks a dismayed Robert Chopp.

"Ouch," proclaims Joseph Dennie painstakingly.

"And that's all there is to it," delights John Bicanich.

In our school we have numerous branches of industrial arts. They vary from graphic arts and have mechanics for girls to machine shop and welding II for boys. The department has many qualified and experienced instructors, also. These men are the teachers of our future mechanics and various other jobs that are in great demand.

"Shh — Please don't tell them I stole the ink," pleads Karl Ruthenbeck.

Joe Froehlingsdorf always advises his students never to slouch on the job ... Right Joe?

"Hey, who turned on the laughing gas?" asks a hysterical Bernard Rose.

what you

tomorrow

The glint in Ernest Ashley's eye makes one wonder if he is really thinking of girl's shop.

Dynamos and generators hum busily, lights flash warningly, little needles climb across the broad expanse of a meter as students in the electricity class continue to work on their mysterious experiments. Whether it be electricity, welding, cabinet making, drafting, auto mechanics, or printing, the shop classes aim to "teach a trade".

"I'll get that fly yet," Robert Sorci mutters wistfully.

"If I turn this valve, will it go boom?" wonders Byron Kesanen.

Mr. L. A. Braaten points out correct operating procedure to his shop's students.

"Shoot it in the corner pocket," orders Theresa Moroni.

"Oh, did I get a terrible shave," mumbles Fred Swensen.

"With this physique, I've got it made!" boasts Fred Swensen.

"Two hands on the wheel, boys," says Theresa Moroni.

"Chest up, you breaststrokers," pleads Mary Strukel.

In-out-in-out, breathing and swimming at the same time is very hard to do unless you're co-ordinated.

We begin the hour by taking our time getting into the pool and end the hour by being the first one out. Between those times, we hang on to the gutters for dear life and shake till our teeth rattle.

Once in a while, we attempt to swim the width, but even then we do the dogpaddle. Very rarely do we ever try the length.

It is silly to say that swimming develops form and grace, for have you ever watched a duck waddling?

1-2-3-4, situps and burpees result in moans and groans to see whether we are physically efficient. Are we? Inter-class tournaments determine the most skillful basketball, volleyball, soccer, badminton, and field hockey teams. By the time we're finished with an hour of gym class, we are experts on how to waltz, polka, and jig. Showers are another aspect of gym. You can always hear the gleeful but unconvincing shouts of us, trying to pretend we're taking a shower. For example: It's too hot; give me my towel; and throw me some soap. Physical education is all in fun, is all a requirement, is all highly beneficial.

"You're sure to sink with these grades!" exclaims Mary Strukel.

"Now girls, you're going to have to eat what you cook," gloats Mildred Sipola.

never do today what you can do tomorrow

"Well, maybe I left it in too long," Mrs. Sipola ruefully admits.

"If I take it out real fast no one will notice," plans Mrs. Sipola.

"They wrote no-no's on the walls," grunts Matt Oberstar.

"You ask me what I do here late at night?" snickers Bill Lemieux.

"A book is a world within itself."

The library is a busy place. Our collection of books now numbers 13,500 volumes and we subscribe to over 100 magazines and 5 newspapers. We have paperback editions of many of the most popular fiction and non-fiction titles and these are really used and appreciated by the students. Our reference collection is up-to-date and has material on many subjects of interest to young adults. We have 5 sets of encyclopedias; they are exchanged every 5 years so we always have one set that is completely current.

We try to make the library a center for extracurricular reading, both for class work and for fun.

— Mona Burgher

"Do not put off 'til tomorrow what can be enjoyed today," smiles Mona Burgher.

The three L's in Mona Burgher's world are love, life, and library.

JEAN STOLBERG:

*A woman,
A teacher,
A friend.
Ever constant spirit,
Patient understanding,
Honest concern.
Unorganized but never discouraged,
Busy,
But never too involved,
To give some time
To us.
Jean Stolberg,
We dedicate
This book
To you.*

The Class of '70 certainly has found the winning formula for floats — "The Birds and the Bees." They won their first place prize in '68 with "The Bird" and did it again in '69 with "The Bee"!

to look up and not down to look forward and not back to look out and not in, and to lend a hand

... happiness is the art of finding joy and satisfaction in the little privileges of life; a quiet hour in the sun, instead of a faraway journey; a little outing in the nearby woods, instead of long trips; an hour with a friend, instead of an extended visit with relatives; a flash of sunset, a single beautiful flower, a passing smile, a kind word, a little thoughtfulness here and there as the day slips by ...

girls bounce and splash to championships

This years girls' swimming team was coached by Mrs. Rantala. The girls swam in eight meets of which two were the region and district competition. All of these meets were won by Virginia with large margins. The girls took the district and region tournaments. Jane Richards was the captain for the 1969—1970 season. Next year the captain will be Georgia Bicanich.

Georgia Bicanich is congratulated after placing in the Region 7 girls' competition.

SCHOOL LIFE

go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. as far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story.

avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. if you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.

keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. but let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism.

be yourself. especially, do not feign affection. neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is perennial as the grass.

take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. but do not distress yourself with imaginings. many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

you are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. and whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should.

therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul.

with all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. be careful. strive to be happy.

SERGIO DANIEL KAPUSTA

What is a foreign exchange student? He is a big smile, a sparkling sense of humor, and a sports fanatic. Sergio's humor and intelligence have given us a refreshingly different look at our own country. Sergio comes from Argentina, a country where such things as football, hockey, basketball, and especially snow are little known. The Rabideaus, Sergio's American family, helped him discover many of these new things.

Sergio expressed some of his own views on America in a Project Democracy essay:

"Nobody really appreciates what liberty means when it is something so common that it seems promised to everyone. But coming from another country enables me to feel here a different atmosphere, without fear, with confidence. America is a land of opportunities, an open door for everybody. And this is the peoples power to make every foreigner at home."

Is school spirit dead in Virginia? Definitely NOT!! Although our football team had not been having the most successful of seasons, it received excellent support at the homecoming game. There was a good turnout, and the kids yelled until they were hoarse. Prior to the game there was the annual assembly, and the float parade down Chestnut Street after the assembly. Cynde Jusela was crowned as Homecoming Queen by Carl Wicklund. The parade was a success, even though it was a windy day. Somehow the Juniors managed to tie the Seniors for the float award, but the Seniors took it in good spirit.

During the week of January 25-31, VHS students held the annual Snow-Week revelry. Throughout the week sophomores, juniors, and even seniors worked on snow sculptures, and spirit was high. The culmination came on Friday. The Snow-Week assembly was one of the best assemblies the student body had seen all year. The Beaver-Shot Squad, a well known intramural team put on a clever and amusing skit. "Doctor V" boosted student morale. The Juniors lucked out and won the snow sculpture, but the class of '70 will forgive them for that, as the seniors did theirs in one night. The traditional crowning of Queen Gail was a well-executed and pleasing climax to the assembly. The event for which everyone had been waiting, however, came that Friday night. The successful basketball team was playing a highly ranked team, the Hibbing Blue Jackets. The Blue Devils played a great game and coasted to an eleven point victory. Much to the fan's delight, the hockey team also won on Saturday night against Duluth Denfeld. Snow-Week was a complete success.

We're Number 1! VHS! Cheerleaders energetically continue to excite crowds with their cheering talents.

"It certainly has been a wonderful evening," comments Dave Wallin.

Dave Moesenthin seems completely unimpressed by "MacArthur's Park."

"Yeah ... We juniors certainly did a great job on our prom, and I'm proud!" affirms Mike Ralston.

macarthur park

"Just think — next year we'll be out there," dream envious Debbie Gentilini, Georgia Bicanich, and Linda Tuuri.

Gary Shoars and Jean Demorlis stop dancing following a hectic charleston.

The Class of '70 once again proved its supremacy by creating the most beautiful prom in the history of Roosevelt High. An excerpt from the theme song "MacArthur Park" (by Jim Webb) aptly describes the Junior's effort — "I'll never have that recipe again." For the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom was a dance that will never be forgotten or surpassed.

Couples and prom, take a part in making up our memory. Amidst the chastity laws and public eyes, human warmth and sharing somehow finds its way.

and we'll never have that recipe again

Tim Norman was the Spanish dancer of the prom. (It's funny how photographers get their pictures taken.)

Part of the construction crew "takes Five" in the gazebo while putting finishing touches on the decorations.

These are the men that govern school life. They are important. We are truly sorry that these deserving men were omitted last year: (L TO R) Elder Metsa; Charles Harrington; Bert Slade; William Shimmin, Business Manager; Dr. Oscar Friedlieb; chairman; Vernon Saxhaug, school attorney; E. N. Kerola, Superintendent; William Bergman, and Lloyd Sakrison.

Clubs,
Logical and natural institutions
To meet a very human need of fellowship.
Everywhere, men are bound together
In their search for truths and ideals.
Working together, clubs hope to make Each man realize that he has
An interest in his brother
And his brother in him.

Chris,
We're finally finished with good old Frank! Remember all those cool movies? Have a nice summer and practice hitting that little nut around the golf course. See you next fall at MSJC.

Good Luck,
Sticks

AFS

The purpose of The American Field Service Committee is to bring a student from a foreign country into a school and make him welcome.

This year our AFS Student is Sergio Kapusta. Because of the AFS Committee, Sergio has enjoyed a fine year in the Roosevelt High School.

Lee Rubenstein studies French, hoping to be able to communicate with this years foreign exchange student, Sergio. Little does he know Serg speaks Spanish.

GRA

The Girls' Recreational Activities Club was formed with the purpose of getting and keeping the girls of VHS in better physical shape. It is the largest club in Roosevelt High School. GRA'ers divide their yearly activities into quarters. The first sport the girls participate in is volleyball. The games are played in the Technical Building Gym. Next is bowling. Basketball games are played at the Lincoln School. The last activity for the year is badminton. Each of the sports has its own tournament, the winners receive pins for their victory at the annual awards assembly. GRA is under the leadership of Theresa Moroni, senior high gym instructor.

"You're kidding! You mean I really did rip my gym suit?" says Sherrill Peterson.

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen's most important function is the sponsoring of the Winter Sport's Festival. The suspense mounts as the time nears for the queen to be named. Only the Lettermen nominate and elect the girl who reigns over the weekend's activities. Another event, one the whole school looks forward to, is the annual Lettermen's Supper. The menu always reads Spaghetti and Meat Balls, but when the Lettermen get their hands in the noodles, you never know. Mr. Beste, Mr. Olson, Mr. Swenson, and Mr. Knoll are the Lettermen's Club advisors. The VHS Lettermen are identifiable by either their royal blue letter jackets or their blue or white letter sweaters telling the name, the sport or sports, and the year of the wearer. The officers for this year are Bill Luzovich, President; Jim Strle, Vice-President; Steve Sertich, Secretary; Neil McKenzie, Treasurer; and Bob Lager, Sergeant at Arms.

"Who said Lettermen aren't tough?" challenges an indignant Dave Klima.

ENTRE NOUS

Miss Amy Beckstrom and the Entre Nous girls had a successful year beginning with selling popcorn at football games. To enliven the spirit of Homecoming, the girls decorated the halls to the theme of "Put a Bounty on the Wolves." Together with Tri-Hi and hard work, Entre Nous made the Turnabout a great success. Regular meetings were held featuring speakers, including Dr. Tietz who spoke on sex and dating. At the Halloween party, prizes were given for the best costumes. Jerry Pfremmer, playing Santa Claus for the Christmas party, distributed gifts and joy to the five welfare children. In February, initiation was held for new members who were under instructions of their "Big Sisters." The year came to a close at the annual Entre Nous Banquet, when tears were shed by many of the graduating seniors, and sophomores and juniors looked forward to an equally successful year in Entre Nous.

"Oh no, I'm not going to play Santa Claus for the Entre Nous Christmas Party!" exclaims Ruth Culbert.

TRI-HI

Under the guidance of Ann Moberg Tri-Hi is the most active girl's club in school. The club's major project during the year is the support of a Vietnamese girl, Dieu. In fall Tri-Hi has an annual bottle drive in order to support Dieu. When November comes Tri-Hi along with Entre Nous puts on the yearly Turnabout. As the months pass by, before Christmas Tri-Hi has a candy sale to raise money for the club's activities. During the holiday season the girls fill a box of gifts for the patients of the Cambridge Hospital. Initiation for the new members is held in February. In the spring the Tri-Hi Club sponsors and puts on the Senior Mother-Daughter Tea, held at the Hotel Coats. The year comes to an end with the annual banquet, a program presented by the members and the naming of next year's officers.

Andrea Bradish tries hard for Tri-Hi.

The Future Homemakers' of America are engaged in many activities. They fill baskets for the elderly at Thanksgiving time. At Christmas the girls make and exchange gifts at the Christmas party. An event the Fathers look forward to is the annual Daddy Date Night, an evening reserved especially for them. Mrs. Bonicatto is the advisor for this group. The officers include Pat Slade, President; Rosemary Rekonen, Treasurer; Michelle Klima, Secretary; Charlotte Altobelli, Recreation Leader; and Vicki Gilbert, President-elect.

FTA

The initials FTA stand for the words Future Teachers of America. The club's members are students who are planning on majoring in some type of education courses in college. Sheldon Johnson and Harold Schmitke are the advisors for this group. Although the club is open to both sexes, the members are all girls. The members are able to learn more about the profession they hope to enter through this club. All the teachers in VHS are able to answer any questions the members might have. At their social meetings the girls are able to hear speeches and discussions which are of interest to them. Future Teachers of America is an informative club to belong to if one is interested in any aspects of the teaching profession.

Perhaps the best thing about the future is that it only comes one day at a time. — Dean Acheson

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

"Gee, you mean we're really going to be on television?" wonder bedazzled members of the A Capella Choir.

The Virginia High School A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Dallas Frandsen, has been very busy this past year with many concerts. Mr. Roy Berg was a student teacher the first part of the year when the choir sang for the Northern Minnesota Education Association Convention in Virginia. The choir also put on a musical, the proceeds of which went for the annual trip to Minneapolis.

The members of the choir have a right to be proud of themselves for they were chosen as first alternate to the Minnesota Music Education Association and were also rated fourth in the state. This is surely the finest choir Roosevelt High School has ever had.

"What do you mean they're fuzzy?" questions Tim Norman, photographer.

"B-B-B-But staff!" stammers Wayne Slater, advisor.

"Hey, Lee, do you think they'll censor this one, too?" asks Marc Rabideau.

The Rohian Staff that began asking itself "Why not?" at the beginning of the year is presently asking itself "Why?" Toiling through many hours of blood, sweat, and tears, the staff members experienced tribulations, heartaches, and laughter while creating a liberally conservative 1970 Rohian. Such events as senior superlatives, Excedrin Headache No. 02884, and V-L Day all give staff members a frightfully unique meaning of the word "deadline," one we will never forget.

A good newspaper requires unity.

Blue!

White!

Fight!

Blue and white day festivities are gaining ground as king and queen candidates wait in anticipation for the coronation.

The motion picture "Cheaper By The Dozen" will precede the coronation assembly and following the game with Tower, Miss Shogren will emcee the "Sno-Ball" dance in the girls' gym. No doubt some lucky couple will be chosen by Miss Shogren to start the dance.

Time: 11:05; Place: Courthouse; What: Raid on candy counter; who: the junior high mob.

Local Police Move In On Teen Sin Emporium

Last Friday night local constables raided an illegal demonstration of teenyboppers. The protesters were gathered in front of "The Castle" to throw snowballs while the current hit, "Eve of Destruction," blared loudly from the jukebox. The police spotlighted the area and nabbed three unidentified youths who took part in the riot. They were later released on $500.

Mr. Caron assigned Mr. Urick five hours detention for loitering in the halls during lunch hour.

Mrs. Koski ordered two additional gross of rulers.

Bleeding Shirts Drip On Fashion Scene

The "In crowd is sporting far out, Far East fashions. The bleeding madras look, as seen in shirts, belts, head bands and even purses, is currently dominating featured fashions. Also attempting to gain a foot hold on the foot scene are blue bumpers and "Baldies."

Even teachers are succumbing to the popular trends. In reference to the big tent dress fad, Mrs. Koski says, "If you can't beat 'em, Join 'em!"

Valiant Effort Nets Third

With the theme "Betcha can't eat one," the confident sophomore class members have been busy all week creating a unique float "certain to win the homecoming float contest." A large replica of a blue devil has been soberly slouched on the imitation football field with goal posts on both ends. In the center, a model of a sardine can has been stuffed with mannequins to represent deviled raiders. The cab of the truck, a large, cow-like "devil's" head has been in traditional blue and white colors with the defiant cry "Charge" on the bumper. Says LuAnne Aronen, "I'm sure we're going to win. It's not cheap at all!"

The Mod World of Carnaby

The Carnaby Street look is sweeping styles from the traditional mode to the smashing mod. Wide wale cords, plaid pants, Beatle boots, wide belts, paisley and flower print shirts, peacoats and hero jackets all head the fashion favorites for boys. Girls clad in striped and polka dot dresses, go-go-boots, mini-bags, Twiggy haircuts and fishnet stockings, coupled with fishermen knit sweaters and long stocking caps, are making the mod scene at VHS.

Revue

The most outstanding event in the "Blackboard Revue" was Mrs. Schultz's puppet dance and the mock protests of the teachers who carried signs to emphasize rebellion.

VHS Social Events Intrigue Students

The Beatles smash hit, "Strawberry Fields" will be highlighted for the 1967 Turnabout dance to be held Friday, November 12. The girls' gym will be decorated with gigantic imitation strawberries and daisies trimmed by white picket fences and scattered park benches.

The climax of the social year will be the long awaited tenth grade party which will follow the Junior-Senior Prom (the theme of which is "Up, up and away!") No doubt havoc will prevail as eager sophomores tear down the prom decorations and begin collecting the debris for souvenirs.

Last weekend the good Mrs. Schultz had a busload of sophomores driven down to Minneapolis to see the cinematic viewing of "Gone With the Wind" at the Cooper Theatre.

Bits n' Pieces

While sophomores have been giggling at Sheldon Johnson's jokes and anecdotes, Mrs. Hurd continues to wonder how the time flies. Geometry students are astounded at the wide range of knowledge they are acquiring in Mr. Sevcik's class. How to build with geodesic domes, how to beat the gambling racket, how to sing jingles and even how to dance the two-step, are among these unique topics.

Smashing Float Victory

We jolly juniors, though last year "came in last place in homecoming float contest, we really broke open as we hatched a first place victory with "Tweet-y." The theme of the float was "Tweet 'em Wuff" and later became a catchy cheer which spurred the team on to victory. The float was adapted from the animated character "Tweety-Bird" of cartoon fame.

In addition to winning the float contest and Spirit Jug, the juniors molded a pile of snow to snow-sculpture a throne. Don't forget future class reunions, Barb Jenia will provide decorations with "Tweety's" head.

Good Times

Top activities during the past months have included the memorable Eveleth "teddy" bear game, the smashing Look-out Mountain Contact party, and a most successful magazine drive.

Junior Festivities Spotlited

"It took so long to make it" — MacArthur Park.

"Outstanding! Best ever! Unbelievable!" are just some of the words used to describe the 1969 Junior-Senior Prom.

MacArthur Park was the theme of this traditional dance and the Juniors worked especially hard for many months in preparation. Large leafed elm trees; a lighted sparkling fountain; and old time gazebo for the band; a flower stand for punch; rock gardens; park benches; and a realistic and colorful 100-foot mural reproduction of the famous Seurat painting, "Sunday Afternoon on the Island of the Grande Jatte." Juniors, with the help of Mr. Miller, well deserve the praise they received for their efforts.

The 1968 Turnabout (November) had as its theme, "Spanish Harlem." The music was provided by the Kingsmen and Tri-Hi and Entre-Nous decorated the gym with complementary pink and brown streamers.

East and West Meet

Attention shifted from Carnaby Street to New Dehli as the nehru look has taken hold and captured the styles of girls and boys alike. With medalions and beads hanging from mandarin collars, fashion outfits are often completed with pin-stripe pants and sandals. Accompanying the Far East trend are the traditional styles — navy blue shells, C.P.O.'s, fur coats and complementary fur hats, penny loafers, sleeveless sweaters, and wide-watch bands.

Bits 'n Pieces

The two most popular topics of conversation are music and teachers. The smash hits, "Hey, Jude", "Those Were the Days", and "Mrs. Robinson" all let the sun shine in on Ila Larson and Doug Johnson.

Vol. XII

Chris Frosaker solemnly contemplates the future of the class.

The senior year really began with the arrival of our foreign exchange student, Sergio Kapusta. Adding his enlightening personality not only in school but also at week-end parties, Sergio certainly has blended his customs and cultures with ours.

Our senior year continued with a variety of social activities. Among these activities were the building of another winning homecoming float — a first in the state and record breaking magazine drive, from which the seniors earned well over $16,000, and two national peace moratoriums of October 15 and November 15.

The class of '70 is wearing numerous styles in attire. Girls can be seen clad in fur coats, suede and maxi-coats, high leather boots, flirts, wire-rimmed glasses, and slacks. Boys can be seen clad in fur coats, suede, brush, or fur-lined maxi-coats, wire-rimmed glasses, and even slacks!

People We'll Never Forget Are: William (poof-soot, snodgrass) Somero Frank (Believe it) Rukavina Jean (Now . . . People) Stolberg.

A happy smile comes to Kent Johnson's face as he reflects upon the success of the basketball team.

School

Song

Give a cheer for our dear old high school,

Mighty boys and girls in blue,

Ever our loyalty to our school we will be true.

Fight for the spirit of the Norsemen,

Whether we win or lose,

We'll keep on fighting,

Ever fighting for dear old V-I-R-G-I-N-I-A!

Super '70's super officers take a break from their rough schedule.

Senior

Superlatives:

Best Looking: Glen Jacobsen, Cynde Jusek; Most Spirit: Carl Wicklund, Mimi Deutsch; Class Clowns: Tom Michaels, Char Altobelli; Most Athletic: Neil McKenzie, Jane Richards; Most Likely to Succeed: Mike Nekich, Gail McKenzie; Most Mischievous: Pete Canelake, Renee Edholm; Shyest: Larry Lind, Margie Hill; Most Helpful: George Agriesti, Patty Hedican.

A fitting conclusion to a year of hard work.

Not everyone is given $5,000 just to be creative. Editing an annual is more than following a tradition. It involves individuality, responsibility and lots of hard work.

A lot of our time is spent just thinking. Our thoughts have been incorporated in the 1970 Rohian. We think that it is sad that four previously active organizations have been disbanded. This led us to many of the innovations incorporated in this book. Black senior pages, extensive use of poetry, duotones, and the philosophical overtones are combined hopefully to produce a mood. If our book causes you to feel something, then we have succeeded in our purpose.

We would like to thank the University of Pennsylvania, St. Olaf College, McKenna Studio and Andrew's Card and Camera Shop. We appreciated those teachers who understood and cooperated. Mr. Slater, our advisor, was thoroughly devoted to the Rohian. We truly believe that he would do anything for us. For this we thank him. We have high hopes for the 1971 staff, all of whom worked hard on this book. Good luck to them.

If you want to, you can skim through this book, glancing at the pictures, get your autographs and then put it away. But please don't. We're Trying to say something.

P.S. state or bust!

The essence of the place lies in its moods; in its loneliness, contentment, and patience — Bob Lager.

Sergio Kapusta: We live as we dream, alone.

"We were adults at times and children at others," admit Audrey Luoma, Ellen Weiss, and Connie Holmes.

Jill S: Certainly these problems warrant concern.

Mary L: Certainly they've been told about them.

Char A: Certainly they have within themselves, the strength to fix them.

Cynde J: Certainly they care about them.

Marc R: But not today.

Carl N: It's too much bother to do things on their own.

Sergio K: Because they are not caught up in the importance, in the interest of doing, of acting, of reacting, and accomplishing.

Lee R: Because it takes them a patient while and a sincere think before it really makes sense for them to bother.

Bill L: Apathy . . . doesn't it make you sick, or don't you care?

*will we remember our ideas,
or youth,
or friends?*

Brian McKenna and Barb Nelson: together in peace.
