Communication is the art of relating ideas and emotions to one another — an ability that we mastered or lacked in the year 1971. Strong or weak, communication was an element of everything we did.

To share new knowledge or skills, we listened to a history lecture, drove behind-the-wheel for the first time, or wrote lab reports together in the public library at 9:00 P.M. We gave speeches and wrote papers to practice thinking for ourselves.

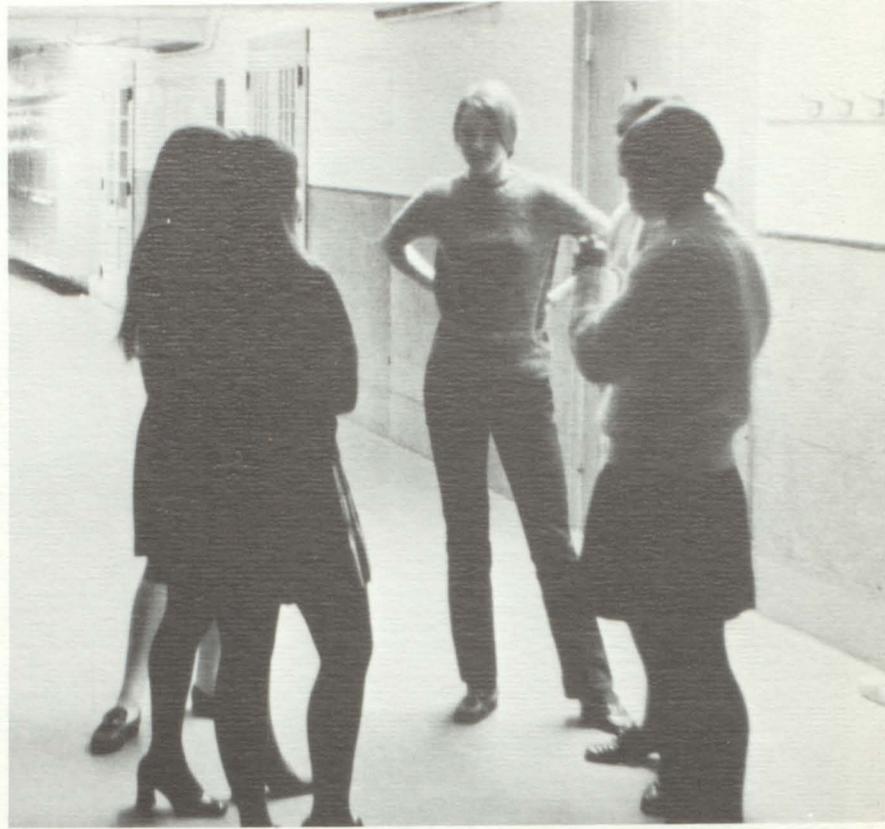

We roared appreciation after a well-executed lay-up, or groaned for a missed slap-shot to express our spirit.

Together, in our clubs, we dated our daddies or hosted an AFS weekend to develop co-operation.

Most important, we as individuals grew up together. We compared opinions of teachers and answers to math problems. To keep up on the latest happenings, we hung-out at "Pizza Bill's." Deep discussions and wild parties revealed the anxieties, faults, and beauties in each other. We became friends and enemies, we understood and misunderstood; we argued and agreed, we were accepted and rejected, we hurt and helped each other.

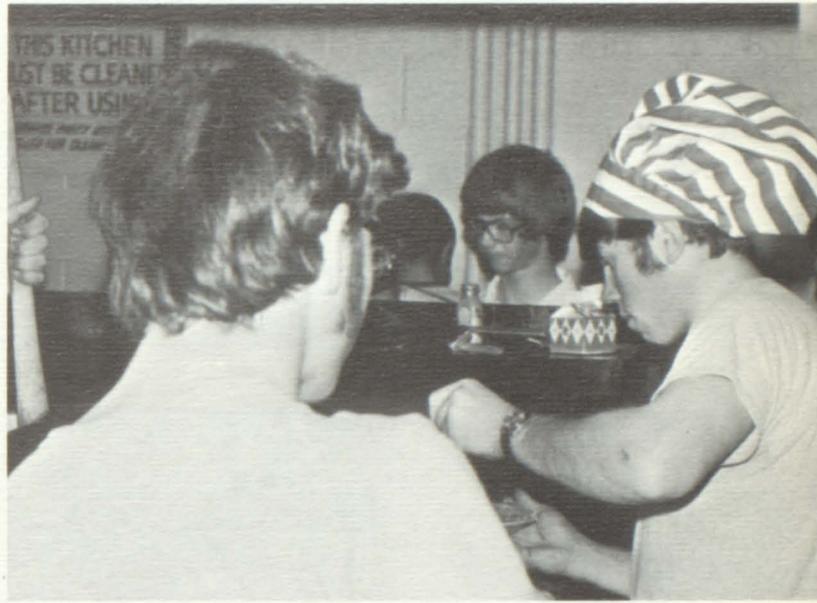

For 948 students the process of communication was continued in 1971. It is our obligation to keep communicating.

In the early day's of civilization, there were no schools. But man saw the need for people to be taught more than just the practical things in life. That was why we had to bare up to reading Macbeth and other things we sometimes felt were a total loss to us. We must be prepared to face all facets of life. This preparation not only included art, English, and History, but also the practical side by having, welding, driver's education, and home economics. All aspects of high school laid the foundations for our upcoming futures in this up-tight world of 1971.

EDUCATION

Art Stock is sidetracked on his way to a meeting.

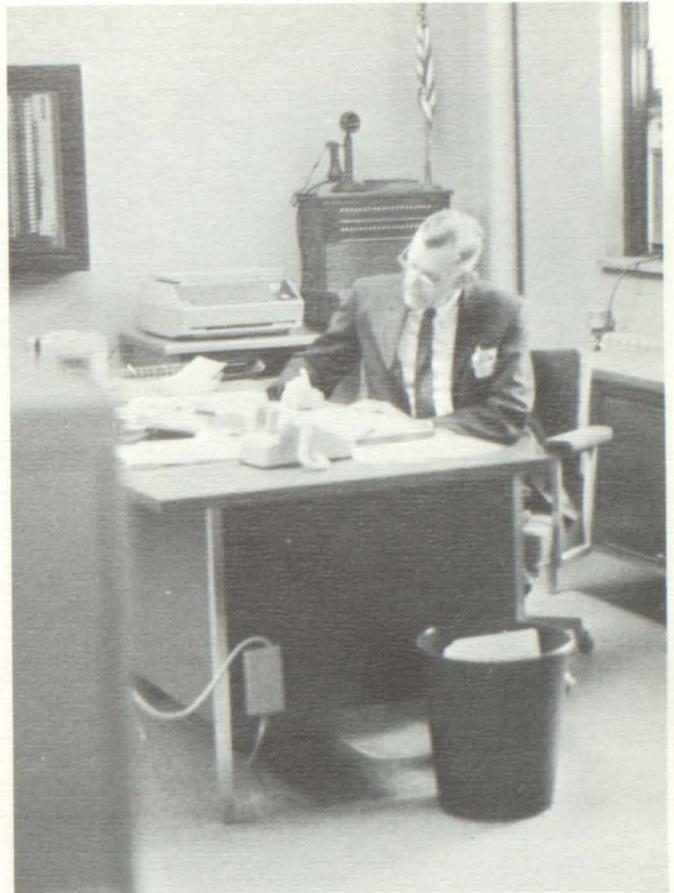

The A.C.T. Test is planned out by the counselors, Jamie Como and Einar Anderson, with the help of their secretary.

Asst. Principal, Frank Rukavina listens to another excuse.

Retiring principal John Lind completes the day.

The authorities

An efficient administration is vital in maintaining a superior school. Superintendent Edward Kerola, along with the School Board, operates the entire school district. It is the job of our Principal John Lind, with the assistance of Frank Rukavina, to see that school life runs smoothly. The VHS sports affairs are put in the competent hands of our Athletic Director, Art Stock. 1970-71 marks the last year for both Mr. Lind and Mr. Stock to reign over VHS before they retire. Assisting in plans for future educations and solving student problems are our overburdened counselors, Einar Anderson and Jamie Como. Seldom mentioned, but ever present in aiding the entire school are the secretaries Lois Schumann, Shirley Byrne, Corrinne Winkler, and Shirley Thompson.

Lois Schumann explains to Corrinne Winkler how to fill in an admitt slip.

A moment of worry in the life of Kathy Wick.

Willard Miller gives his evil eye for the day!

Ye gods and little fishes! Marian Krause flashes a smile.

You see its like this class . . . Jerome Vitse begins another lecture.

Nancy Brant is the name, history is the game!

Through the past to the present

Through the pages of World History, U.S. History, and Problems of Democracy text books, VHS students are made more aware of societies and culture.

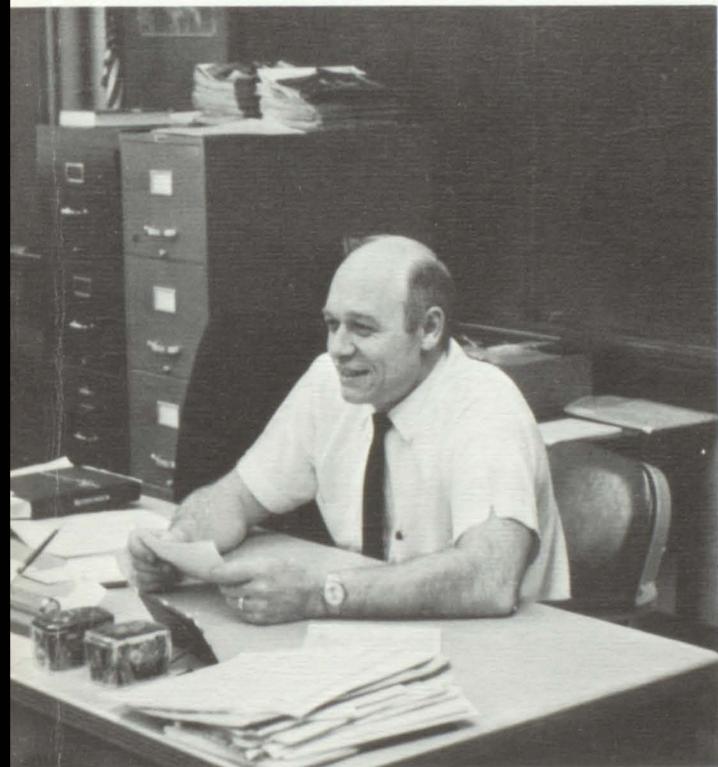

Sophomores are introduced to mankind on a wide range scale through World History. Births of civilizations, formation of nations and development of inventions are all discussed as pertinent topics relating to today's world situation.

Getting closer to home, Juniors study the construction of our own country in the course United States History. From the landing of the Mayflower to the making of the United Nations, students absorb the background events of our history.

With the growing importance of economic, governmental, and social knowledge needed to better understand our Nation, Problems of Democracy presents a clear picture of the inner problems we face today. Minority groups, city government, and personal taxation are all involved in this required senior subject.

I'll be perfectly honest with you ... Amy Beckstrom tells of her experiences.

Grandma was slow, but she was old! George Munig doesn't like to wait.

Today we will study Greek writings. Mary Harrington directs her students to the board behind her.

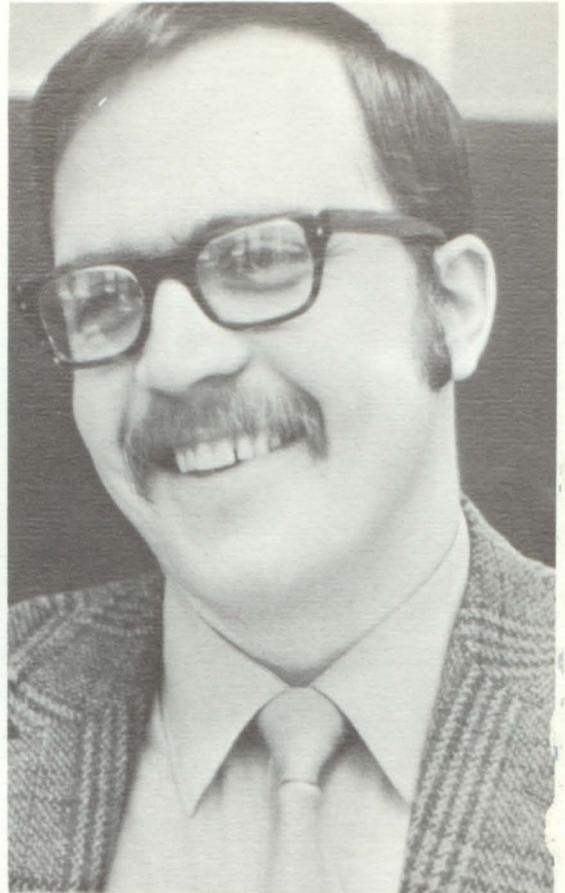

Jean Stolberg starts her class with, "All right today we'll take it easy and just read the 2nd and 3rd acts of Hamlet."

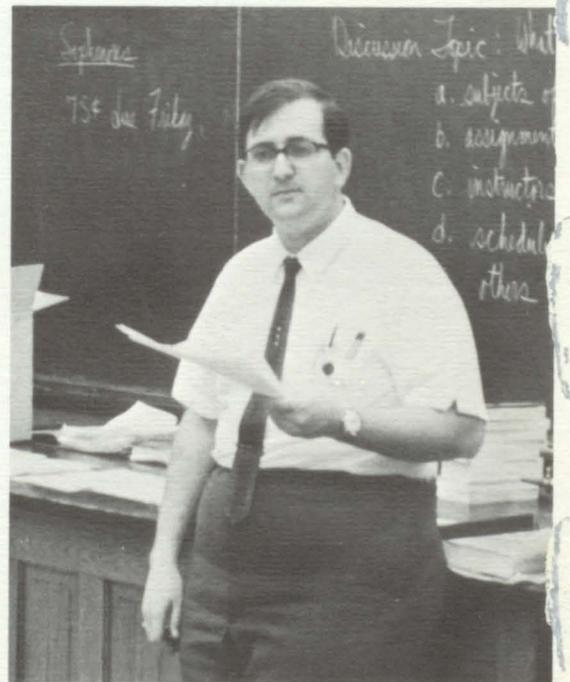

English is the universal language

Through English, students learn the fundamentals of grammar and literature and also receive a basis for Freshman English. Writing, reading, and analyzing are stressed heavily in all levels of English. Our English Department gives us a way to explore life through literature.

Creative writing and current literature are extensions of English. In creative writing, Miss Ila Larsen teaches students to write creative literature on topics of personal accounts and essays. Style and verbal expression are expressed. Mr. Moeller's current literature class teaches students to appreciate the works of contemporary authors. Both courses offer advanced and interesting fields of study and challenges the pre-college student.

Actually my name is Herbert, but who can tell? Mr. J. Johnson in one of his ridiculous moods.

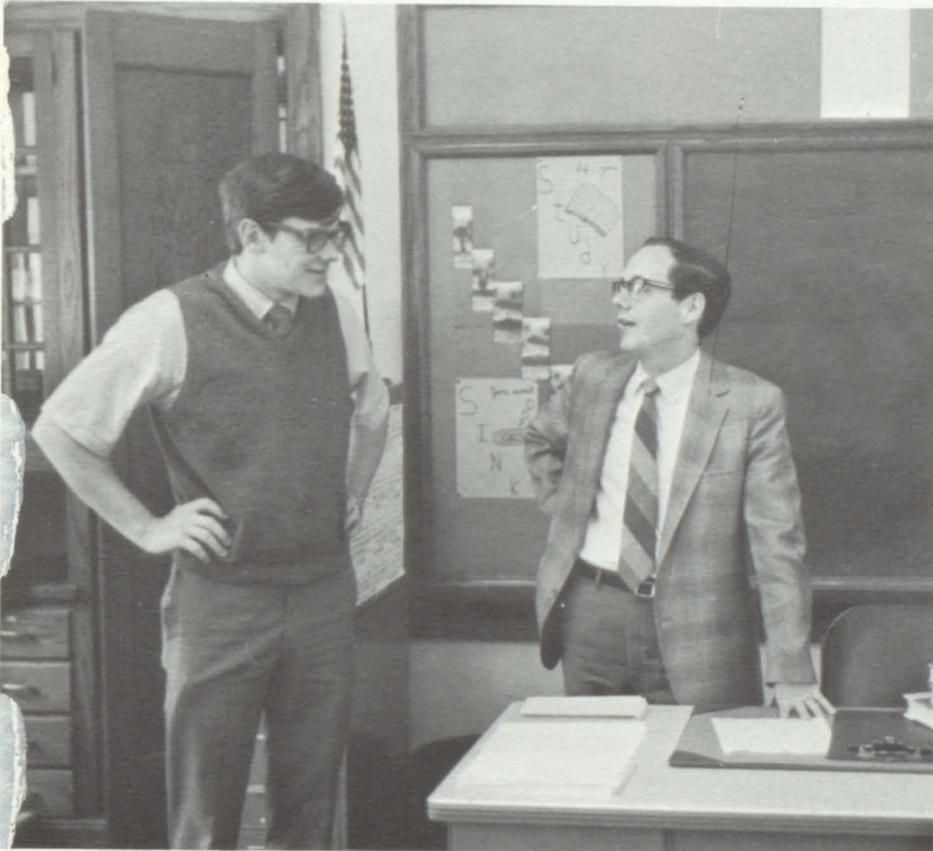

"To ferne halwes, couthe in sondry londes," growls Wayne Geoffrey Chaucer Slater.

The aposiopesis in the encomium was lucid and decisive. Pat Hill eulogizes to Donah Robinson.

Tell me about the Miller's tales again. Illa Larson teases Tom Moeller.

My va-room is bigger than your va-room! Tony Turk chats with Denny Schjeldahl.

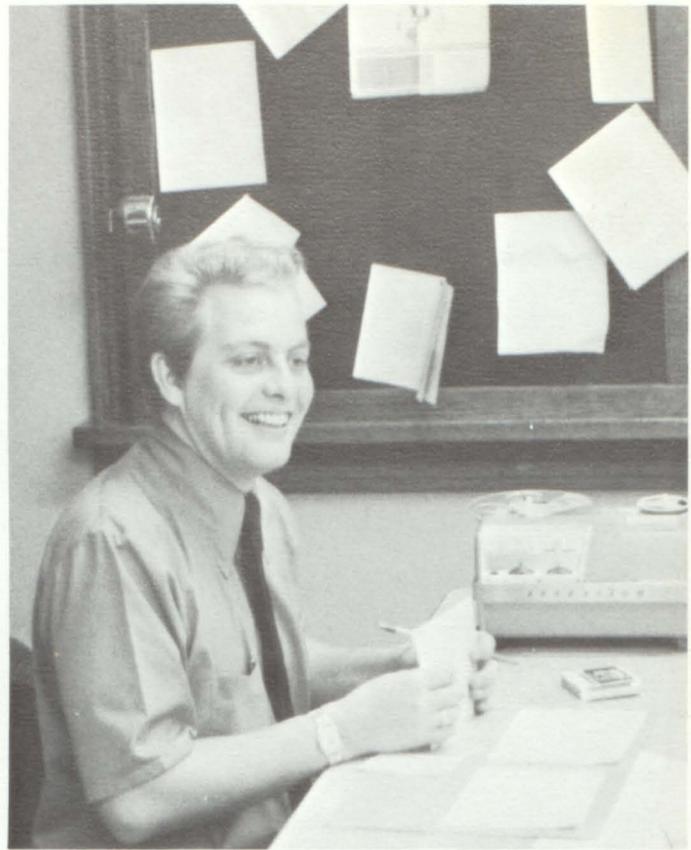

"Tomorrow we will have a 200 word vocabulary quiz," warns Lavigne Hurd.

Speech is free expression

Kathy Sabart painfully demands some Pepto Bismol.

Broadcasting, public communication, acting, and debate are all a part of the speech I and II classes taught by Darrell Swenson.

Librarian, Mona Burgher, is a great help to all of VHS.

To pass the time . . .

Everyone studies in first hour library.

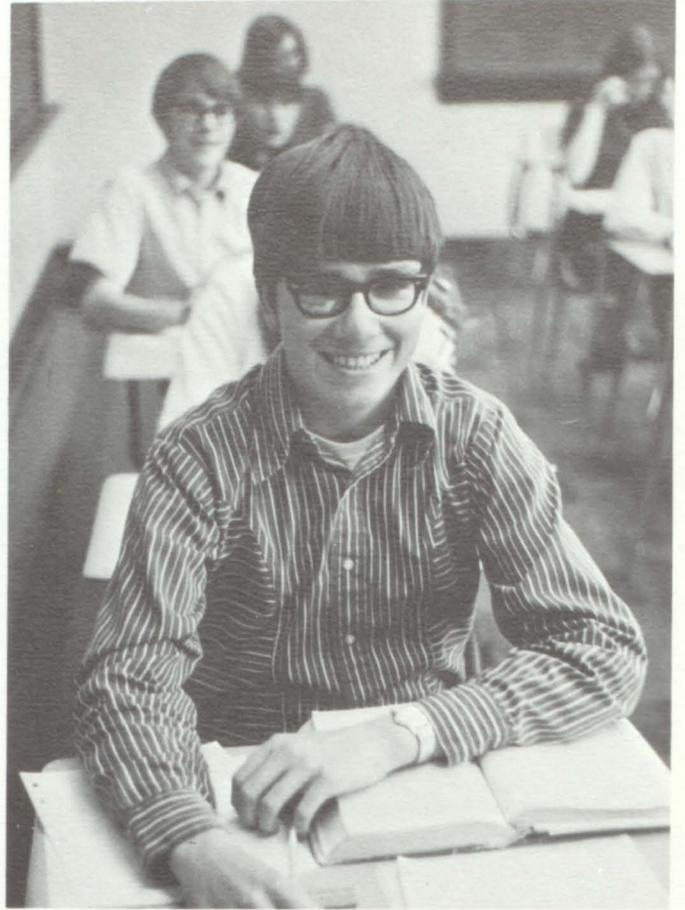

Gee, this is even better than eating lunch!

In seventh—hour study hall, nobody studies!

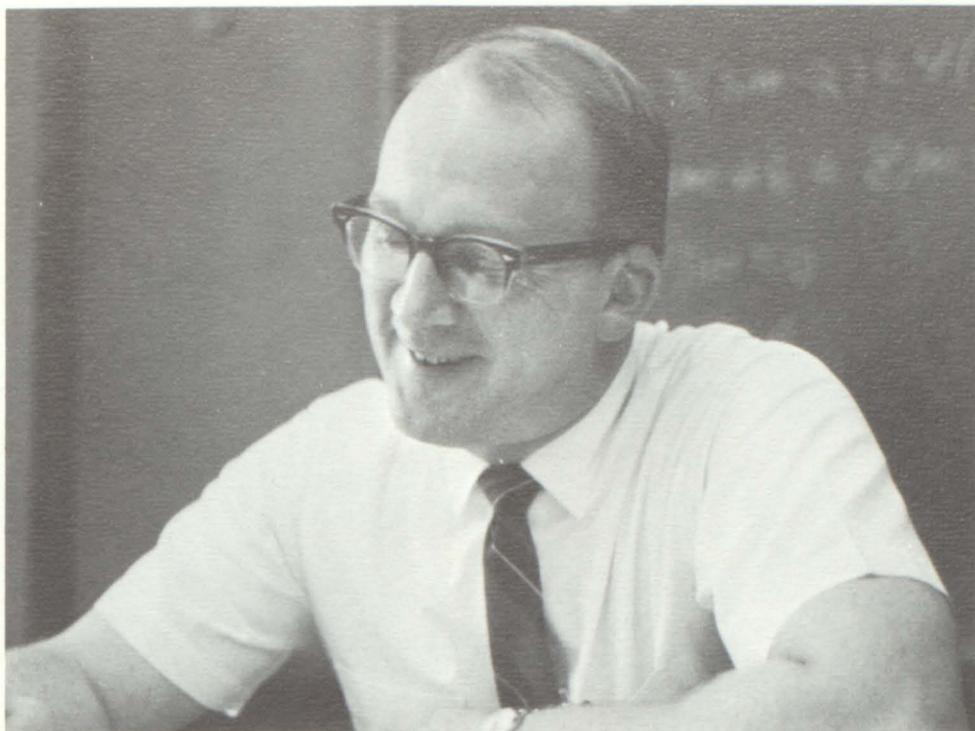

$x^2 + ax + b = a$ smile from innocent Scott Harvey?

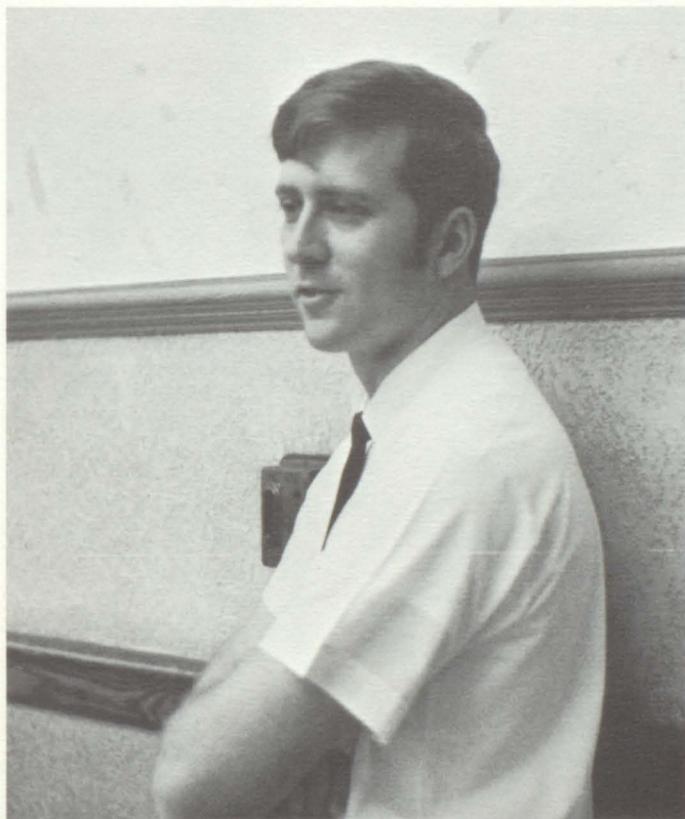

Can any of you students explain this better? Miss Clausen wonders if she's getting it across.

You know, Abe, you're getting to look more like me every day. Bruce Stanaway will also be a great man.

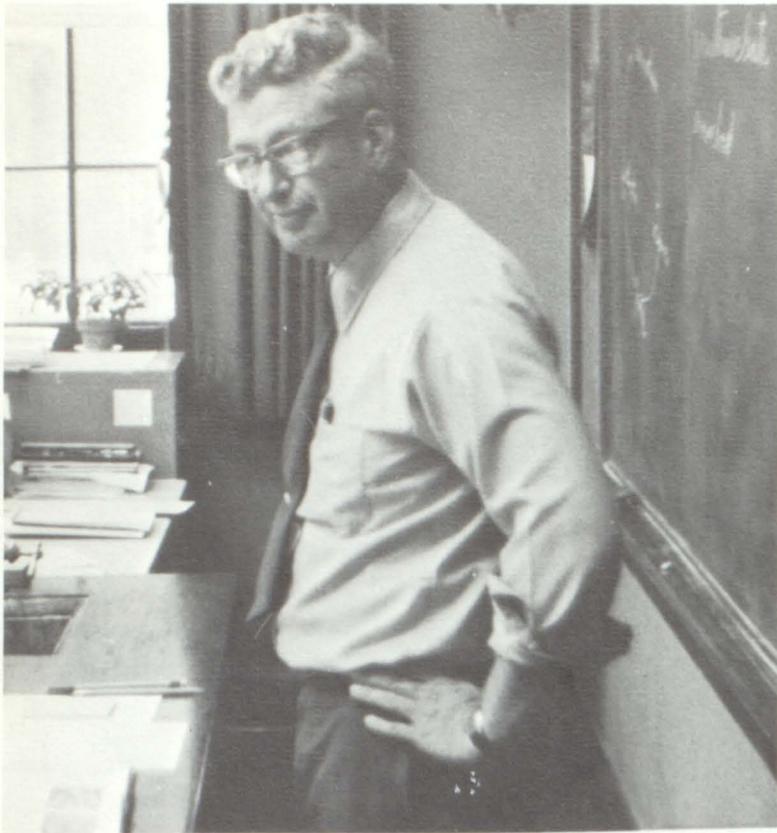

My students would never let me live it down, if they could see me using this pen. A pen is not Louis Knoll's best friend.

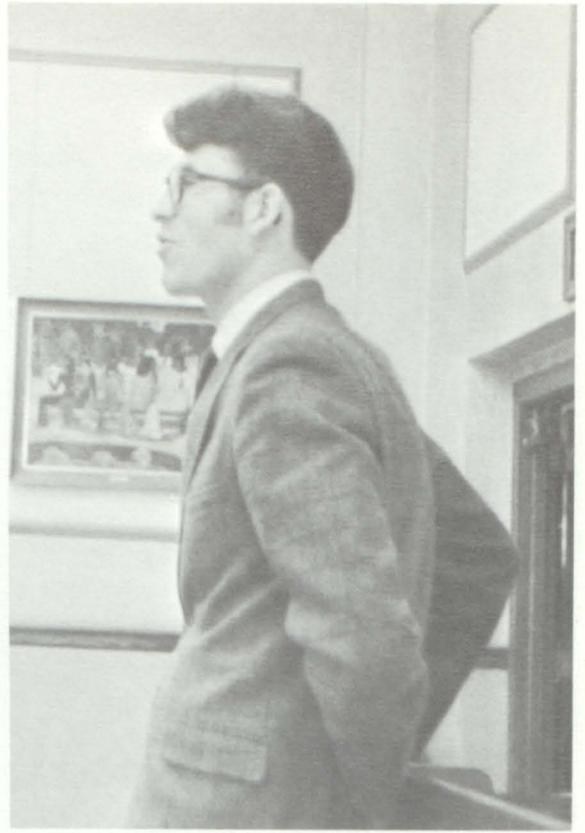

Close your books for awhile, class, is one of Doug Johnson's famous sayings.

Math is unavoidable

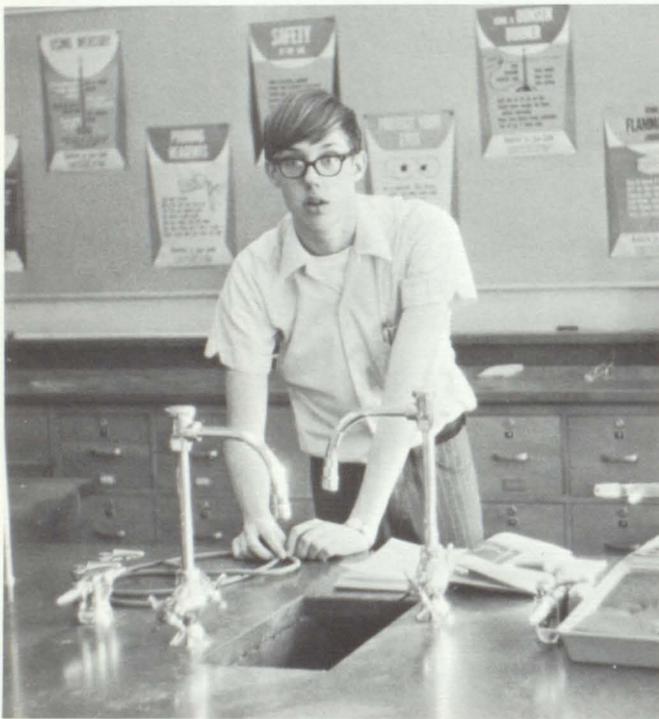

Mathematics is an area few people can completely avoid in their lifetime. To prepare students to meet the challenges of this field, VHS has assembled a strong Math Department to teach anything from simple algebra to programming an IBM computer. Sophomore algebra is handled by Mr. Stanaway. Miss Clausen and Mr. Stanaway, replacing the famous Francis Sevcik, enlighten and-or confuse the students of geometry. For those who desire more math, Mr. Doug Johnson and Mr. Knoll will gladly explain the theorms and identities of higher algebra. The highest plateaus of this VHS program are Senior math and computer programming, both taught by Mr. Knoll. 1970-'71 has the distinction of being the year that computer programming, plus a semester of probability, is added to the curriculum. Any student who takes these courses will leave VHS with an excellent mathematical background.

Eyes on your paper or in the basket it goes. Sheldon Johnson calmly dictates during a test.

Any more questions about my married life. Michael Westlund enjoys curiosity.

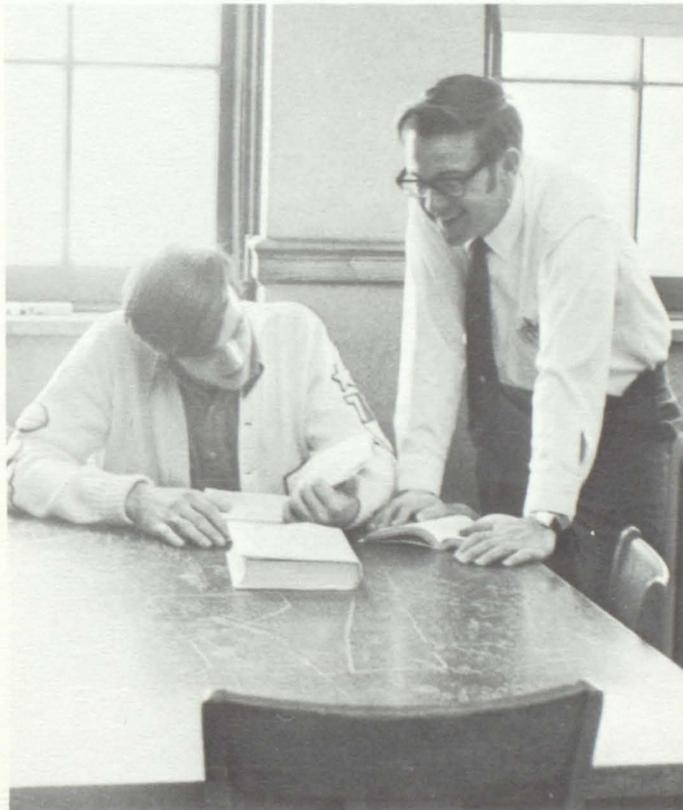

You mean you don't mix nitrogen with oxygen to make water? Bob Erickson is a little mixed up on his chemistry.

Today's assignment includes, well let's just say it includes. Harold Schmitke prepares his class.

Mr. Crucible I Still don't understand my Pastika! Sharon Osmundson is all mixed up.

The name of the game is physics, but Bill Somero and Jeff Norsted don't think so.

Mission: Impossible

Science is always a popular department at VHS. This field is divided into Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. Biology is the study of living organisms; plus the various laws of genetics, heredity, and evolution. Chemistry, under Mr. Pastika and Mr. Westlund, deals mainly with the structure, and properties of non-living matter. Inhaling freshly burnt sulfur, making miniature explosions, watching the colorful chemical reactions, and later trying to figure out what was going on in the experiments keep the lab exercises interesting. Physics, guided by Mr. Somero, helps students learn about the physical properties of nature and how to work with them mathematically. The experiments and labs closely tie in with the lectures so that students can better comprehend the laws and formulas that make up physics.

Keith Davis wonders who took his music this time!

Patience is Mr. Groves. Sit up, fill your diaphragms, and let's sing.

Malone is alive with the sound of music

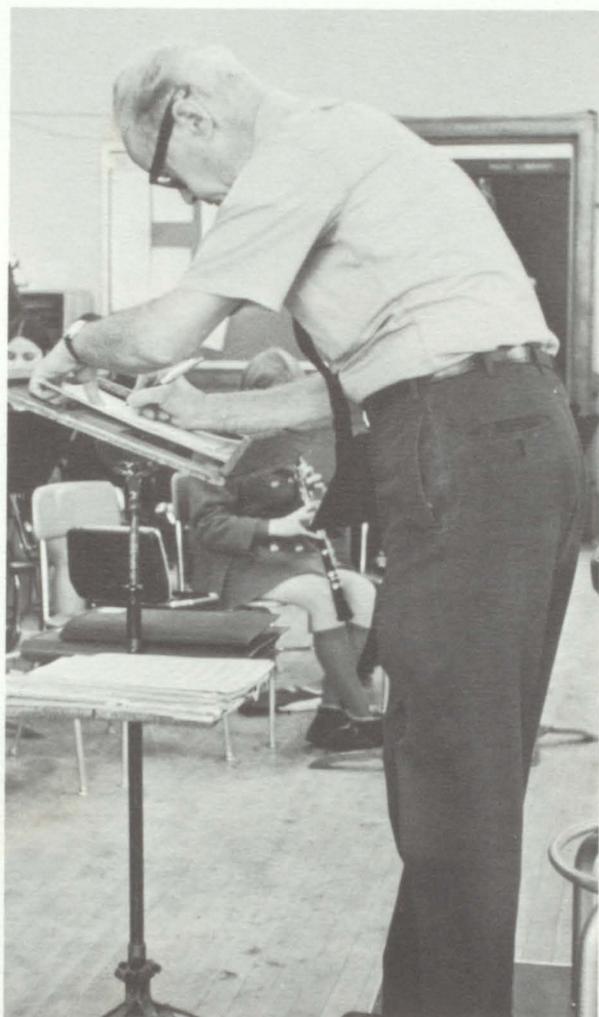

Under the direction of Mr. Dallas Frandsen, the A Capella Choir practices five days a week and sings songs from medieval masses to contemporary pieces.

Mr. Larry Groves, director of the 51 voices in the Mixed Chorus is making a return engagement from his first appearance in the music department as a student teacher, two years ago. The chorus performs at both winter and spring concerts with the A Capella Choir .

The pep band and high school band are conducted by Mr. Wilbur Geary. The band also plays at outside pep rallies and assemblies.

The orchestra members have Mr. Keith Davis as their director. Each year the band and orchestra combine their efforts to present two concerts for the public.

A recent musical class, Introduction to Music, is under the supervision of Mr. Frandsen.. During the course of the year, students expand their knowledge of all types of musical history.

Let's see, W-I-L-B . . . Mr. Geary has a mental block.

Language is the key to the world

Bonjour! Hola! Wie Gents!

Language has become a more popular subject in today's high schools. Our school offers French, Spanish, and German.

People are travelling more and knowing a language helps a great deal. Miss Korpy says, "Language is fun because it is so different from the other subjects." It gives the students a chance to broaden their horizons and open their eyes to the rest of the world which is waiting for us with open arms.

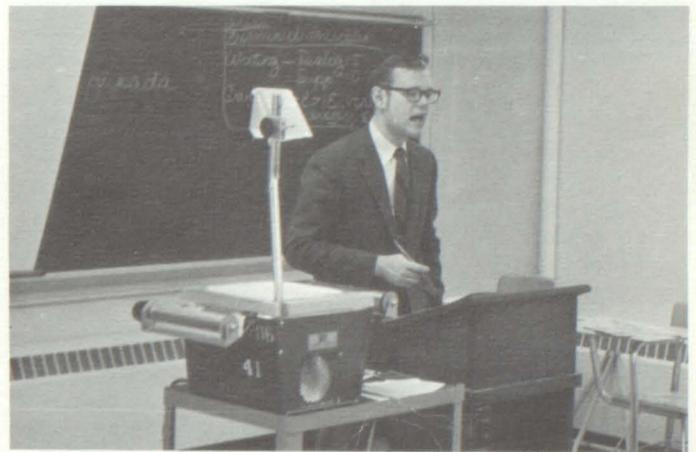

Au Revoir! Adios! Auf Wiedersehen!

Ellen Korpy is disgusted with the papers she is correcting.

Peter Moberg looks over Mr. Frandsen's shoulder puzzled. It might look better if you turn it right side up!

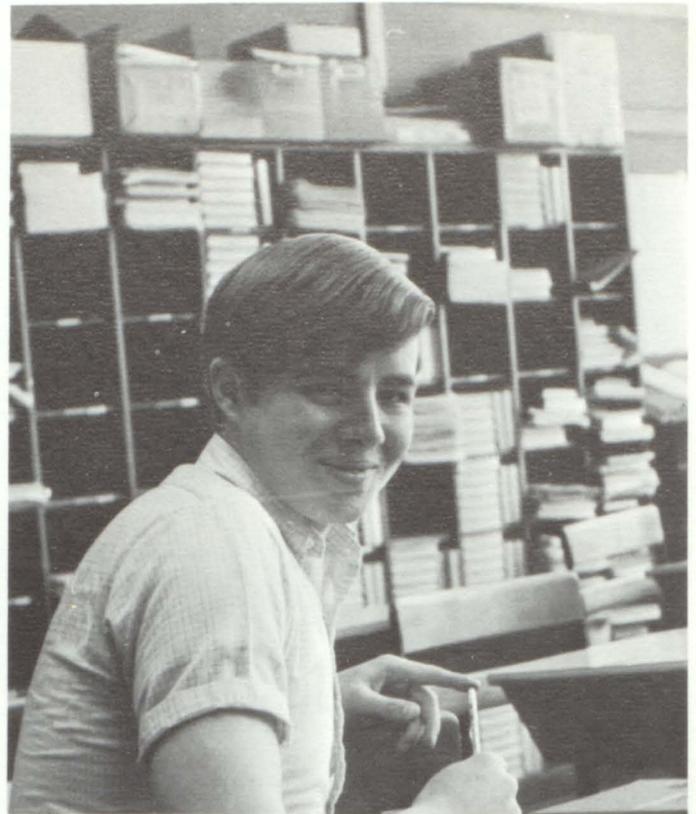

Spanish teacher Wayne Christiansen finds that his schedule is off one minute.

Mrs. Proznik has another interruption in her French class.

Willard Nelson, Julie Krantz, and John Beste attend to their own Business .

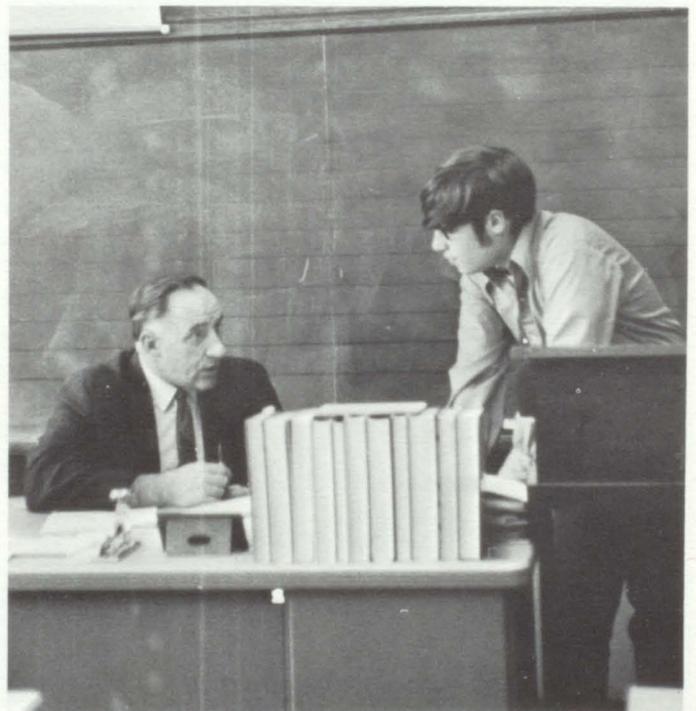

Don't look at me, I'm concentrating. (there's something sly about Arne Haryn.)

Business is the way of our modern day

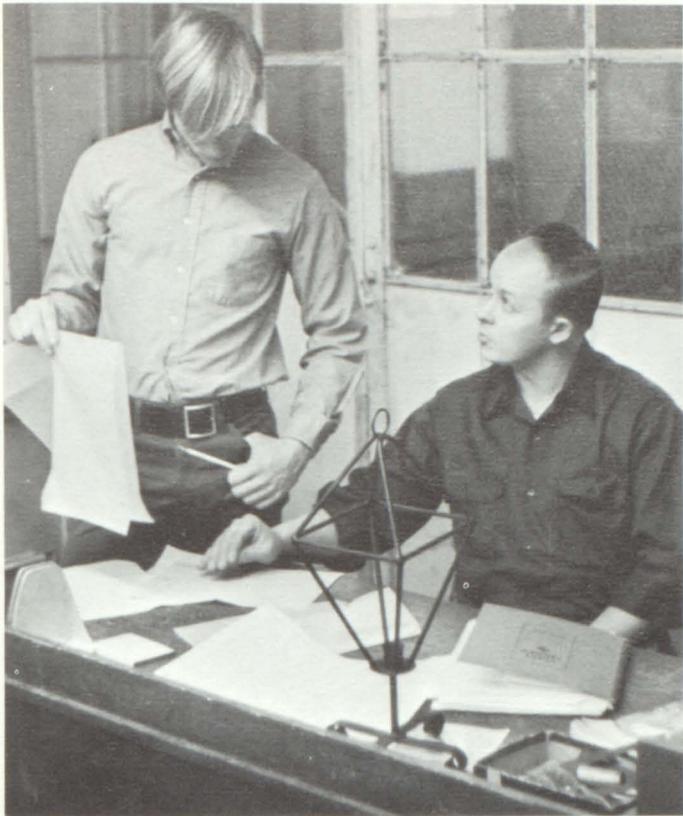

Ready — type! Time's up! Make those brief forms more legible! You mean you can't even draw a straight line with a ruler? Filing is done in a cabinet, not a wastebasket!

These are familiar phrases that you would hear, if you happened to walk by rooms 207, 209, or 211. Typing, Shorthand I & II, Bookkeeping, Office Practice, as well as Business Math & Business Law are the business courses offered at VHS.

Business courses are very worthwhile! They can teach you everything from running a computer, to balancing your own checkbook!

John Beste and Steve Marks solve the world's problems.

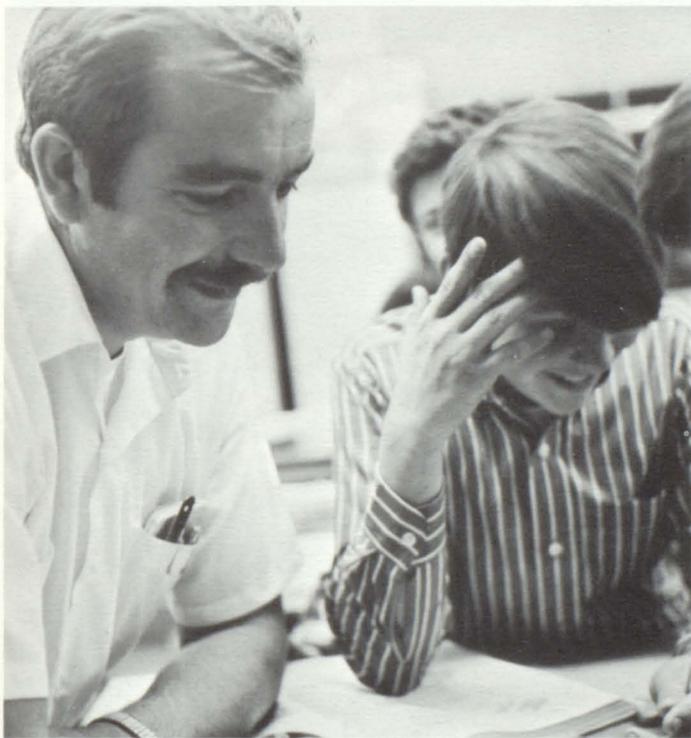

You welded it to what? Byron Kesanen looks up in disbelief at his student's antic.

Shop Students learn practical skills.

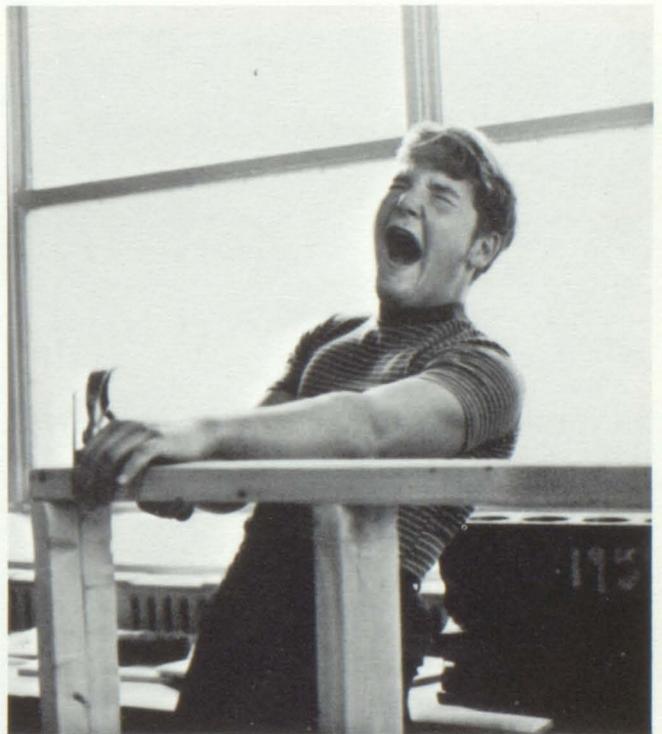

The combined odors of freshly cut wood from a newly designed card table, the musky scent of metal from a newly molded sculpture, and the smell of wet ink from Karl Ruthenbeck's printing class are just a few of the many different essences that permeate the air when walking through the shops area.

Due to an unusual elevator in the automachanic building, Joseph Dennie's greasy mechanics will not be able to apply all of their talents on their project cars this term.

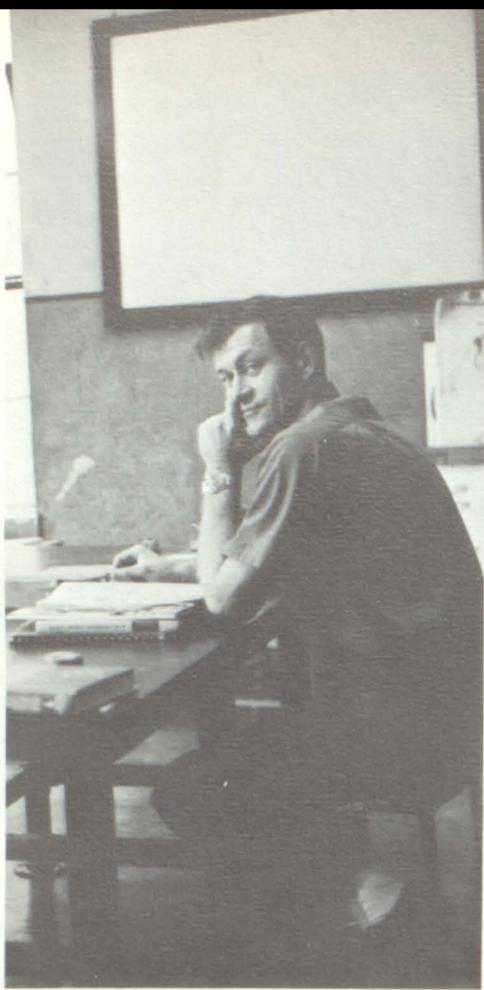

Learning through the book may not apply in these courses, but they prove to be very valuable to the student in his future.

No, that's not a French curve! We know what's on Joe Froehlingsdorf's mind!

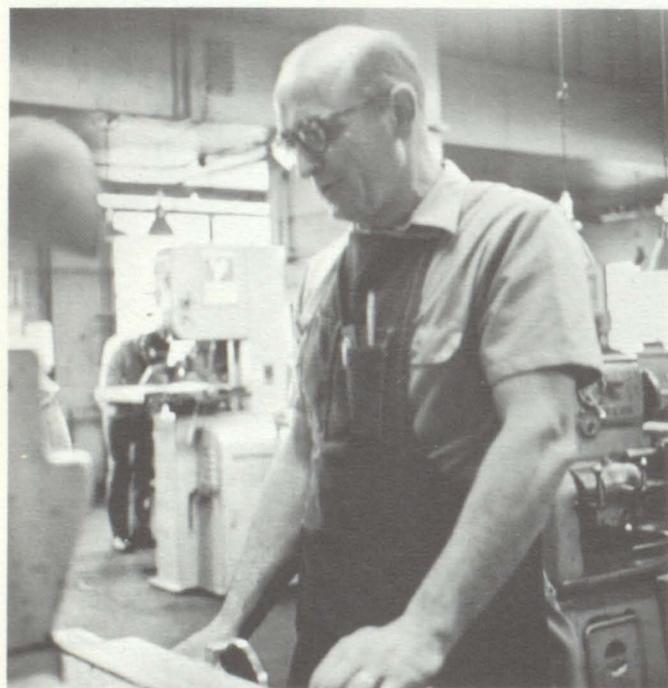

Face it, Chan Conoway, this is not a time to sing!

Auto mechanics instructor, Joseph Dennie, is secretly happy the elevator didn't work.

Ernest Ashley is my friend, because he teaches girls' home mechanics. Nick Vukelich just might follow in Ernest's footsteps.

John Bicanich, machinist, looks with pride at his work.

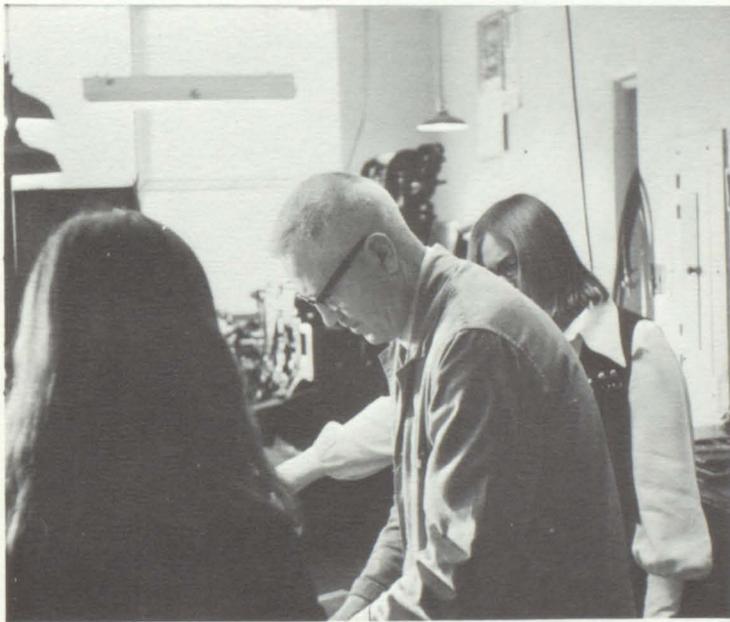

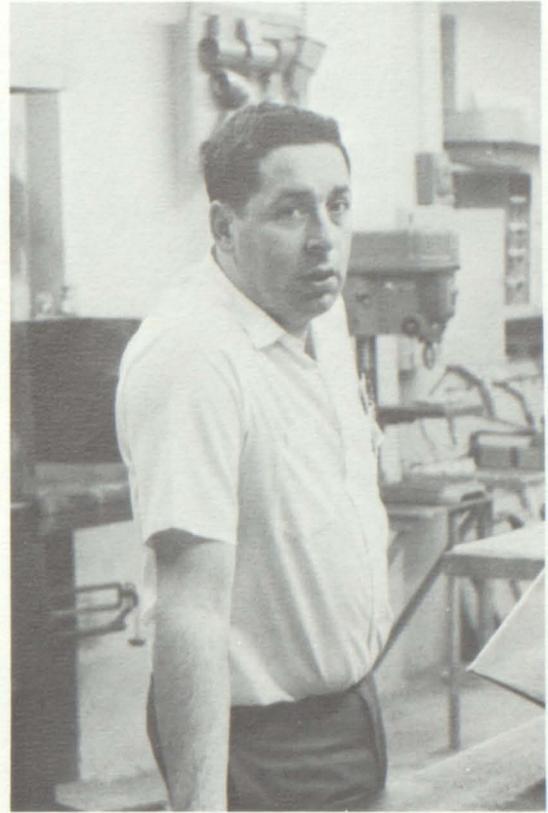

Bernard Rose, welding teacher, is very dedicated to his work.

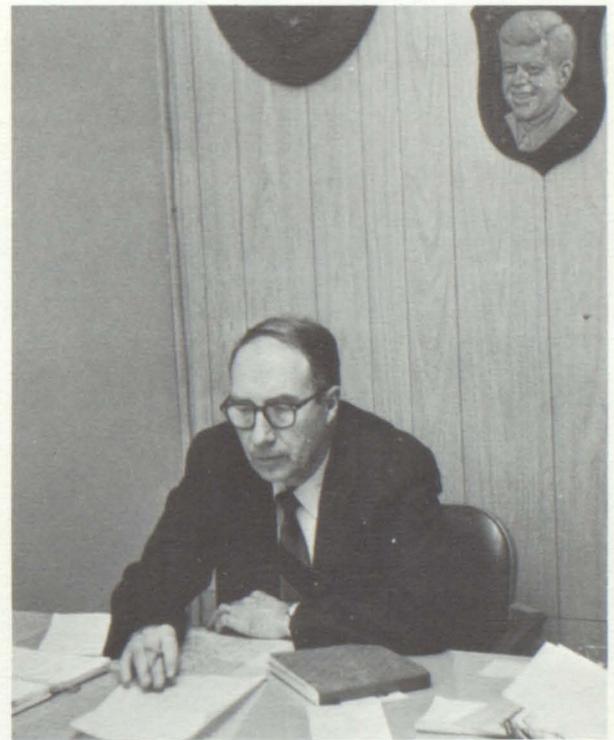

Gee, you caught me off my guard . . . Robert Sorci, Wood Working I, appears startled.

Don't look at me, my electric class did it. Robert Chopp pleads his innocence.

Girl's Graphic Arts teacher, Karl Ruthenbeck, discovers the truth about "Hai Karate."

L. A. "Batman" Braaten anxiously awaits a call from his metals class on the Hot Line.

Miss Ronninnigan cheerfully passes out the check-off sheets for tumbling to her not so cheerful girls.

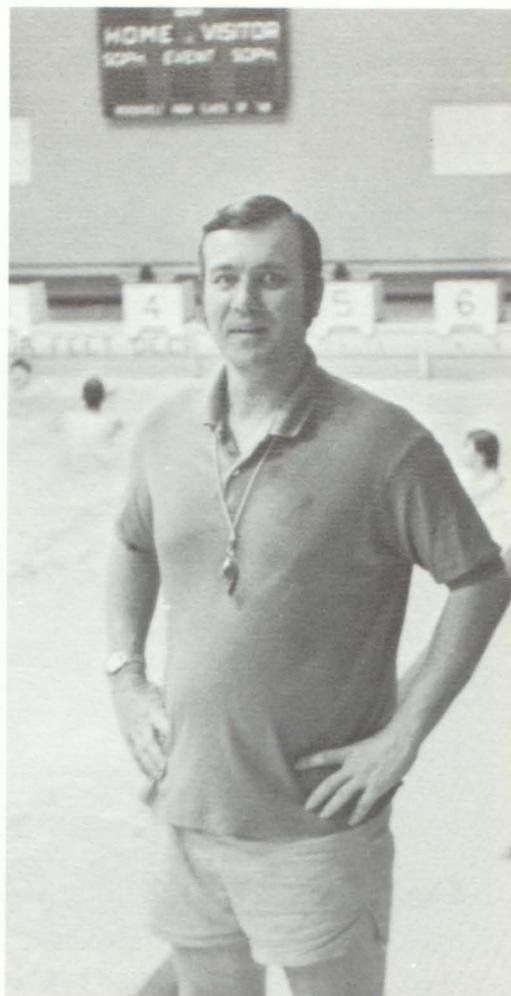

Physical Wreck

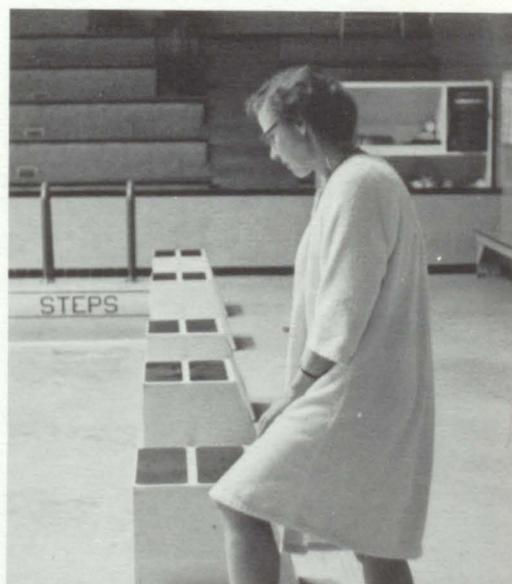

Roosevelt students keep trim and healthy when they properly learn good sportsmanship and follow helpful hints to keep physically fit. Where else do you learn those two important fundamentals than in your swimming and gym classes?

Just think of the many hours of enjoyment you've had since the seventh grade in your Phy. Ed. Classes. If you put your experiences together, you may even realize how much fun you had in your class.

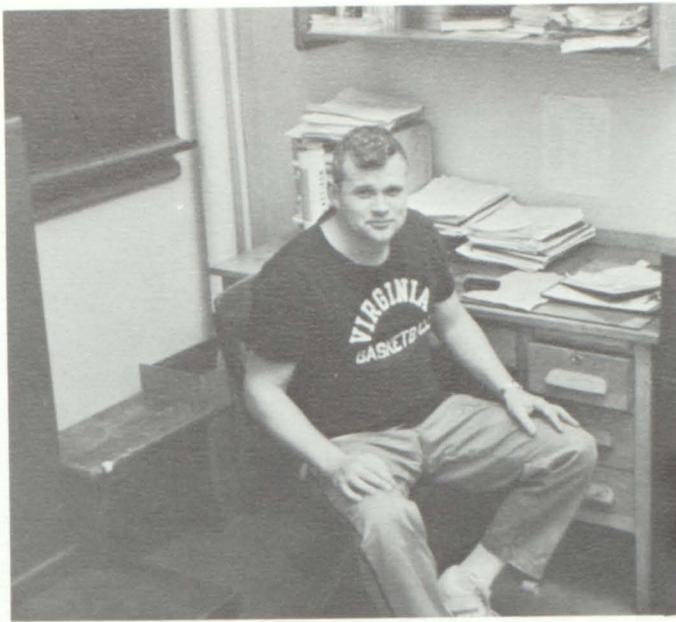

Along with the regular physical education classes, this was the year for Co-ed gym and swimming. The overall comments made by participating students were that it's fun and you're treated as an equal.

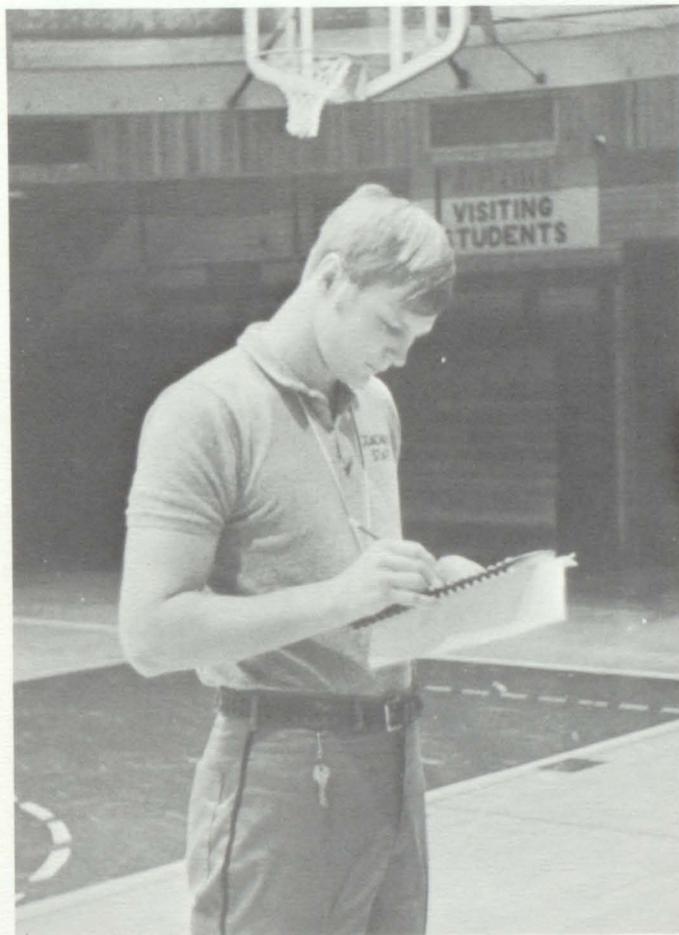

Fred Swenson's students have nothing to hide!

You can come up now girls, girls, GIRLS! Virginia Rantala gazes into the pool in search of her girls.

Come on Shoden, you know you were out with your girlfriend last night, snickers Richie Olson.

Have any of you guys seen my key? Roger Nelson can't seem to find the right key.

Bucke up and live a little

Driver's Training teaches sophomores a skill they will use the rest of their lives. Young men and women learn how to drive defensively, safely, and sensibly. It also gives students a chance to gain driving experience with trained guidance. Two steps are used to train students how to be a native behind the wheel.

The first step is in the classroom. Students are taught, with the aid of films, lectures and books, to see the hazards and happenings that are found on today's highways.

The second step takes place under actual driving conditions. The student, accompanied by a trained instructor, goes through six hours of in-town and on-the-highway driving. When the young driver finishes his classroom and behind-the wheel training he is then ready for Mr. Petrosky.

Off she goes to her wild blue buick. Teresa Moroni sneaks out before a hard day's work.

Special Education is a work—study of class. Students are integrated into classes such as: Industrial Arts for boys, Home Economics for girls, and First Aid, Physical Education and Typing for both. Shops are emphasized for boys so they have two shop periods. Plans are being set up to broaden the boy's experience by giving them a type of Home Economics. Sophomores spend their entire day in class. Juniors spend part of the day in class and the rest of their time, they work at the Community Work and Development Center, where their skills are evaluated. Seniors are assigned to work stations with a goal to work into the Business Community. The Vocational Coordinator works closely with the homeroom teacher to make Special Education a successful program.

Happiness to Mrs. Zielinski is the end of a hectic day.

Someday I'll learn their names, Mrs. Omarzu checks to see who sits where.

Mrs. Ahlin shows Allen Smith and David Harunen that the book is always right.

High School curriculum offers extra help

SLD stands for Special Learning Disabilities. The State Department of Education sets up the broad criteria for the program. This program is subsidized by state and federal funds. SLD is an attempt to reach each student as an individual on his own level through small classes with individual instruction. The program is trying to build the basic skills, such as reading levels and vocabulary. The long range goal of SLD is to return the student to regular class as soon as the student is ready.

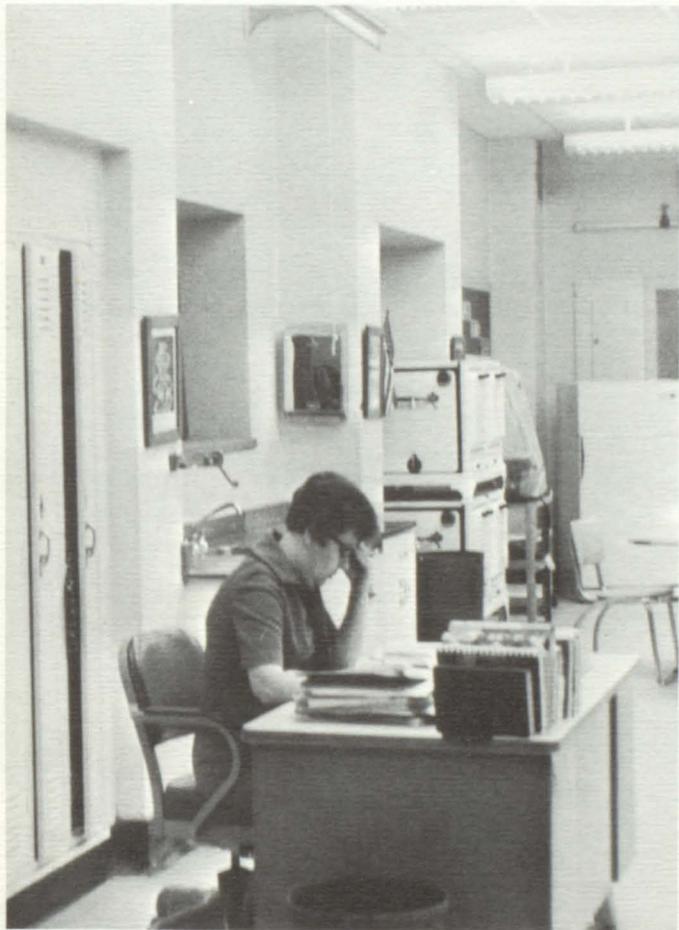

You've got to be kidding! Anne Moberg and Mrs. Halunen seem to be expressing the same feeling.

Authentic creations

Art is not just for specialists—art is for everybody. The purpose of art is to make us more aware of our surroundings . . . to make us better consumers . . . to make it easier for us to live in the world of today. Most of all, art is the expression of our feelings about the world around us.

It's really quite simple. Mildred Sipola explains how to pin a seam.

I don't believe some of these answers! Alice Bonicatto struggles thru test papers.

Preparing for her future role as a homemaker is essential for every girl. Home economics provides this opportunity. Not only does the student learn how to cook and sew, but she is also given a background in home management and child care.

The expression on the face of an athlete after that thrilling victory or that painless defeat can only tell the true story of what an athlete is. To be an athlete is not all glory, fame, and honor, sure he gets his name in the paper, but who writes about his gruelling hours of practice?

SPORTS,

to some, means nothing at all, in fact, half the student body at Roosevelt doesn't give a damn. People don't realize what they missed, when they didn't see their football team win its first victory in two years, or watch the wrestling team tie state ranked Falls, or watch the girl's swimming team conclude their season undefeated. Some may think that sports events come a dime a dozen but for an athlete the games come first. To the avid fan and VHS athlete it was a good athletic year. After all, it was

The season started off on the wrong foot when the team bus to Superior broke down. The Aurora game was stretched over two nights due to the lights blackening out. Throughout most of the Homecoming game, the scoreboard stared out with a blank face. Fan support throughout the season was great regardless of the bad weather and the eight game losing streak. The cheerleaders, majorettes, band, and yells from various Senior boys kept the games moving. For their strong efforts, Jeff Frisch and "Ole" Zupetz made the WDIO honor team. As a grand finale, the team slogged through the mud in Greenway to crush the Raiders! One unknown football player had this to comment about the Greenway game, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going!"

"Please fall down!" cries Coach John Beste.

Finishing on a winning note, the girls' swimming team chalked up a 9-0 regular season record. Coached by Virginia Rantala, the Virginia pacemakers swam to the District 27-28 and Region 7 championships. The last meet for the team was the Brainerd Invitational at which there were six teams representing all areas of the state. The girls from Golden Valley emerged as victors but VHS took second place.

The outlook for next year is good since the team will be losing only three seniors: Captain Georgia Bicanich, Barb King, and Sherril Peterson.

Blood, sweat and tears

The second season for the Virginia Blue Devils wrestling team was an encouraging year for individual wrestlers. Loyd Jones and Tom Gerend, the team's co-captains did exceptionally well. Loyd went the regular duel meet season without a loss and without giving up any points to his opponents. Tom finished the regular season with a 6-4 record.

The team as a whole was winless until the Remer match which was won by 43 to 10. The team challenged Remer a second time and once more crushed them. The score of 28 to 28, by which the team tied International Falls, will also be indelible on the minds of the players and of course the coach.

Coach Roger Nelson was very pleased with the accomplishments of his team this year and he hoped for bigger and better things next year.

After a hard match, consolation is offered to a dejected Mike Voss.

If Mark Eskola would close his mouth and Tony Morrin would put both feet on the ground, they might be able to start the race.

The Runners

Coached by Butch Pastika, the cross-country team's 1970 season's record included: four home victories, three out-of-town victories, finishing fourth out of twelve at Aurora, and eighth out of eighteen at Hibbing. By finishing third at the Districts, the runners qualified for the Regionals, where they finished seventh.

Sophomore Tony Morrin, who was voted most valuable player, also won the team's first and only trophy by finishing sixth at Aurora. Paul Starkovich and Lloyd Jones captained the 1970 team.

Although it did not compile the best record in the area, the cross-country team is improving every year. Next year's outlook is good, with three juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman lettermen returning.

We don't mess around

Captained by Tom Peterson, one of the four senior pucksters, the Virginia Hockey team had a fair 1970-71 season. This year was the year of juniors. Charlie Zupetz, Jeff and Jack Carlson were but a few of the outstanding underclassmen. The season started off at a slow pace till mid-January. Then a spirit moved the Devils to a hot fighting streak and a string of battle wounds. Broken bones, flu-bug and pulled muscles were on the list of casualties reported in to Coaches Dave Hendrickson and Bruce Stanaway. The coaches "doctored" their boys and pulled their team together to again chalk up more victories to the scoreboard.

Tim Riorden carries his Christian Bros. into action with him.

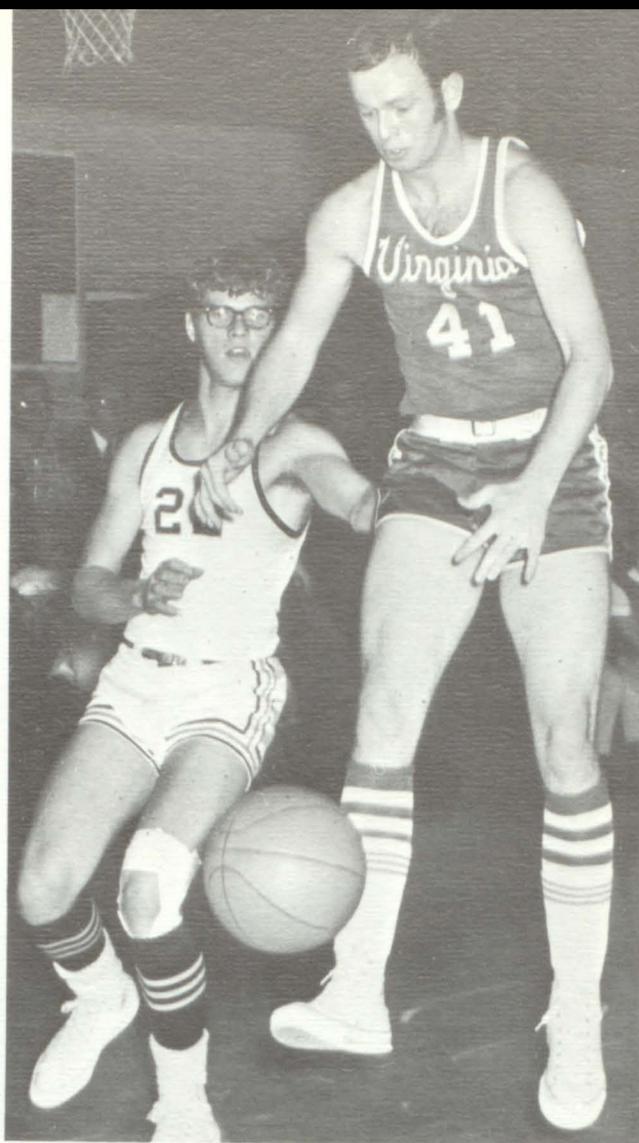

Jeff Carlson controls it all.

Put one through for two

The VHS Basketball Squad under Coach Richie Olson had a good season in 1970-71. Captains for the current year were Bill Dostal and Jeff Norsted. The ball-handling chores were handled mostly by Dixie Shoden, with the rebounds going usually to Jeff Norsted and Greg Judnick. The starting line-up was rounded out by all-around handy men Bill Dostal and Dennis Jorgenson. The unsung heroes were Scott Thompson and Paul Starkovich. This year marks the first year of using the "A" and "AA" Classes for Minnesota State Tournaments. Under this arrangement VHS, the smallest school in the "AA" Class, entered directly into the Regional Tournaments by passing the Districts entirely. With an 8-2 record in the Districts, Virginia shared the District Crown with Aurora.

The rocky road down the icy trail

One of the smaller winter sports in VHS is Curling. Despite little publicity, the '70-'71 Curling team has had a successful season. Midway through the schedule, the team stood with six victories and their only defeats were at the hands of highly rated Bemidji and Hibbing. Coaching the curlers is Mr. Sundberg. During the season, the team practiced at the Virginia Curling Club most nights after school and scrimaged on Tuesdays or Wednesdays.

Lookout Giant's Ridge!

The VHS Ski Team, under coach George Munig, had a successful season for 1970-71. The squad competed in meets at Giant's Ridge, Ely, Cloquet, and took a third in the IRC meet on Feb. 6th. The slalom racers practiced at Giant's Ridge most nights after school. VHS was represented at the State Ski Meet on Feb. 20 by: Slalomers Tim Paulson, Bob Youngman, and Dave Richter, Cross-country skiers Chris Hagberg, Mark Eskola, and Mark Weber, and Jumpers Tim Paulson and Bob Youngman. Altogether, Ski Season '70-'71 was a good reason why to "think snow."

Devils stayed afloat

Because several individuals consistently picked up points in their specialties, the Virginia tankmen swam their way to a District 27 championship. Finishing the regular season with an 11-4 record, the team was just behind Hibbing in the IRC race. Besides hosting the Virginia Invitational, the Devils also hosted the IRC meet. Some of Virginia's mermen participated in the state meet which was held on March 12-13.

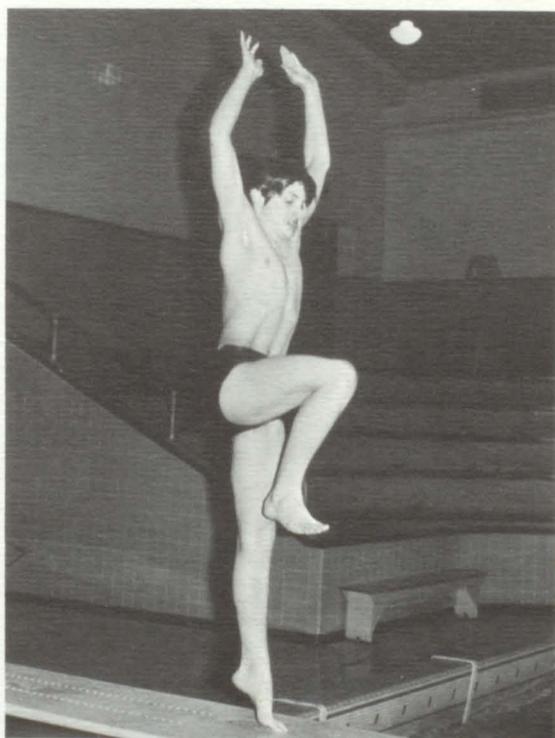

Under the direction of head coach Fred Swenson and assistant coach Joe Froelingsdorf, the swimmers suffered very few losses during the season. The divers were aided by assistant coach Larry Groves. Mike Mattson and Tom Hafdahl did a fine job as co-captains of the 1970-71 squad.

18 — a golfer's dream

VHS was ranked as one of Minnesota's top five high school golf teams in last year's competition. With district and regional victories behind them, the VHS golf team entered championship tournaments as defending state title holders. Doing well in state tournaments, Mark Peterson also entered the Minnesota Golf Association tournament and emerged the victor over the other state golfers.

Coach John Urick pitted his swingers against golfers from Hibbing, North Branch, Ely, Babbitt, Forest Lake, Aurora, and Osseo. His team included Chris Frosaker, John Parise, David Wicklund, and Ken Johnson. With over thirty boys coming out each season, Coach Urick assures VHS of another successful golf season.

We're in the right racket!

With seven returning lettermen, the VHS tennis team will again have the power to take the district championship as last year. During the summer Peter Fleck and co-captains Jeff Frisch and Jerry Pfremmer participated as singles in tournaments at Duluth, Hibbing, Aurora and Virginia. Coach John Ferkul starts practices early in April. This year the team hopes for less snow on the courts for opening practices to keep the ball and players a little drier.

Sprint into action

Spring '70 was a good season for VHS track. Under Captains Pat Folman and Nels Salo, the team won their triangular race against Greenway and Ely. They also moved from tenth up to fifth place to the annual district meet. Despite bad weather and running through snow, team spirit remained high. Coaches Pastika and Westlund will continue their building program into the '71 season. The coaches expect some good results from the returning athletes led by current Captains Randy Terrio, Lloyd Jones, and John Groebner.

Pitch it, catch it

Bad weather was the main factor of the '69-'70 baseball season. Led by Captains Steve Sertich and Neil McKenzie, the team struggled through rain and snow with frequent rainouts. High hitter for the year was Steve Sertich with an average of .410. Top pitchers were Neil McKenzie and Jeff Carlson, with two wins apiece. Praying for better weather, Coaches Kokal and Moeller hope for a good season in spring '71. Assisting Captains Ron Shoden and Tom Hafdahl, will be returning along with players Bill Dostal, Jeff Carlson, Clair Olson, Tom Peterson, and Dick Curtiss.

Emphasis on power . . .

The Girl's Volleyball team proved that diligence and hard work pays off. Finishing the regular season with an 8-1 record, the team recorded its only loss to Aurora. In the District competition Virginia, with a 6-1 record, was second to Aurora. The top two teams from each district played in the Regional Tournament. The Virginia girls, coached by Theresa Moroni, saved their finest performance for when it counted most, playing nearly flawless volleyball, they defeated seven other teams from the region for the title. This year's co-captains were Donna Widmayer and Barb King, while next year's leaders will be Rose Spehar and Cheryl Beito. Rose Spehar was also voted Most Valuable Player.

... to grace

Now in its second year at VHS, the sport of gymnastics has uncovered much of the hidden talent and grace of Virginia's girls.

There are four events from which to choose in gymnastics. They include: uneven parallel bars, floor exercise, vaulting, and the balance beam.

So far it is not known whether the VHS gymnastics team will be interscholastic. If the squad has a chance to participate in the required number of meets, the girls will have an opportunity to earn a letter.

Girls grind gears

Take your mark! Get set! Go! So goes the history of the first VHS girls' track team. Early last April, VHS girls made their mark by beginning a track team under the coaching of Mrs. Mary Strukel. Long hours of practice for field and track events got the girls set for the meets to come.

When the gun sounded go, Virginia girls ran to victory . . .

Carol Pottsmith leads VHS to another victory for the girls' track team.

. . . The first victory meet was against International Falls. Mt. Iron and Aurora-Hoyt Lakes also bowed to the Mighty Blue Devils in other meets during the season.

Chosen as one of the favorites, the VHS girls moved on district competition, placing third. At the regional meet, Virginia took second place honors. Looking to the future, up-coming juniors and sophomores will surely carry on the tradition of being faster at VHS.

Intramural Sports has opportunities for boys who don't want to participate in a winter, competitive sport.

Intramural provides for exercise and fun in a variety of sports: field hockey, basketball, and volleyball.

Any boy may sign up or a team may sign up all at once. Intramural is active on two nights every week, usually Monday and Wednesday. Towards the end of Intramural Sports, there are tournaments held in every sport provided for.

In the year of 71, each different sport is dominated by a different team. HMFIC dominates field hockey, Beaver Shot Squad dominates volleyball, and Rowdy's Roughnecks dominates basketball.

Speech vs. silence

This year's debate team resolved that: the federal government should establish, finance, and administer programs to control air and water pollution in the United States. The team, coached by Mr. Darrel Swenson, began its season against Duluth Denfield placing second. The Virginia debaters went on to accumulate many more wins throughout the year. This is the Virginia debate team's third consecutive year.

The Virginia speech team, coached by Mr. Darrel Swenson and aided by Mr. Wayne Slater and Miss Ginny Wheeler had students competing in eight speech categories. After the local speech eliminations, a team of 32 attended two additional meets. Then twenty speech contestants were chosen to compose the VHS district team.

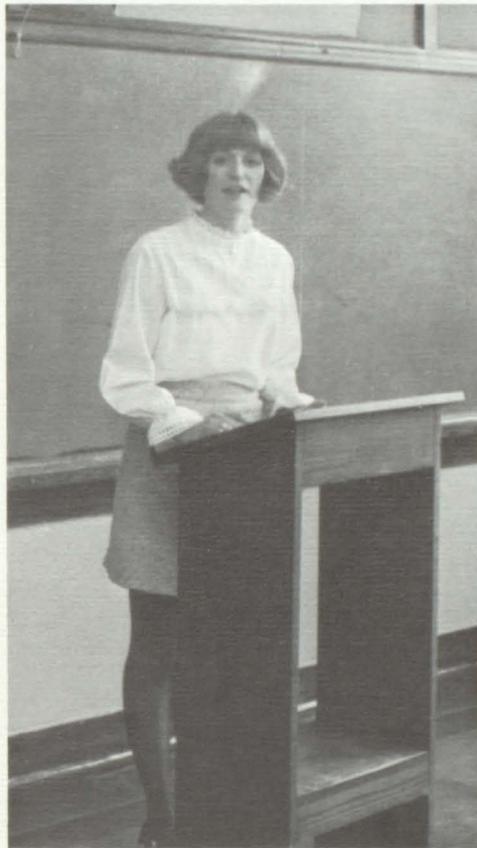

In addition to the debate and speech team, VHS has added a new speech program, the National Forensic League. The NFL is a nationally oriented club with a limited number of chapters. This year VHS had the opportunity to re-enter NFL with Mr. Darrel Swenson as advisor. Ann Pepelnjak was president of the newly formed chapter for 1971.

Student council seeks new changes

The Student Council has been very active this year and has made some important improvements in student affairs. Their first big accomplishment was changing the method of electing class officers to using self-announcement and petition for nominations. Photography, which was previously an all-male class, has become co-ed. Petitions to Hanoi asking for humane treatment of American POW's were written up and passed around by the Council. This group also initiated the plans of building a student lounge, which is being financed as a Class of '71 Memorial. The New Year's Ball, held December 30, also was started by the Council. The current officers are: President, Mike Mattson; Vice-President, Lloyd Jones; Secretary, Margo Spehar; and Treasurer, Debbie Gentilini.

To keep girls of VHS socially aware of their fellow classmates, Entre Nous provides its members with activities that are enjoyable and worthwhile. During the football season, Entre Nous set up a concession stand at Ewens Field to raise funds for forthcoming projects. Before Christmas the club entertained welfare children at a Christmas banquet. February traditionally brings initiation for girls seeking Entre Nous membership. Each new girl is under the guidance of a senior big sister during the initiation period. Credit for the club's successful years must be awarded to Miss Amy Beckstrom who's guidance of the club has made high school more bearable for girls.

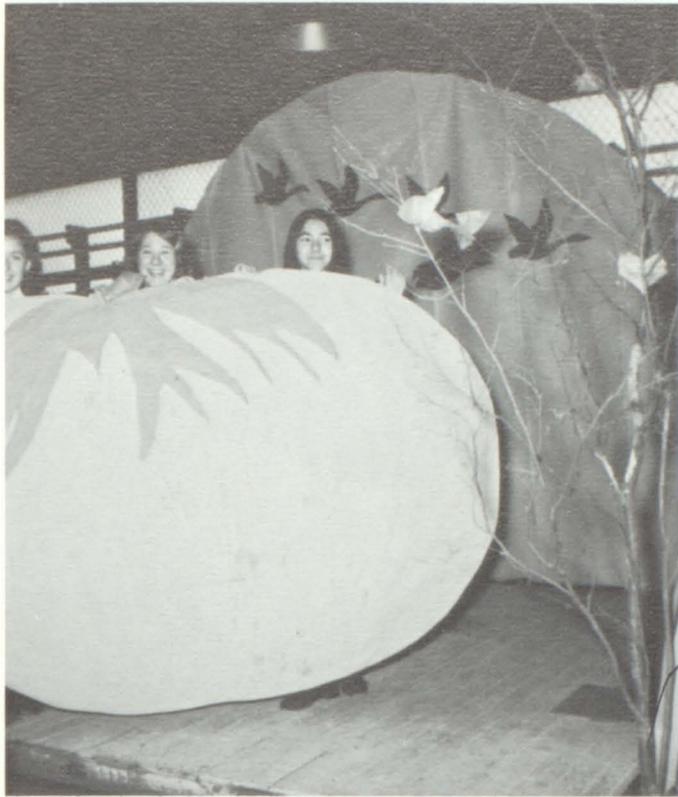

Tri Hi, which is an active girl's social club is directed by Anne Moberg. During the year the girls have various projects to raise money for their foster child, Deiu. A bottle drive, a car wash and a candy sale all turned out to be quite successful. Tri Hi had a picnic at Olcott Park during the fall. Later, a Christmas party was held where the girls exchanged gifts. Initiation was held in February, for which the girls did crazy stunts on Main Street. A mother and daughter tea was planned and put on by Tri Hi for the senior girls and their mothers.

In November, Tri Hi and Entre Nous cooperated in putting on the Turnabout. The year came to a close with Entre Nous and Tri Hi each having a banquet for the outgoing seniors.

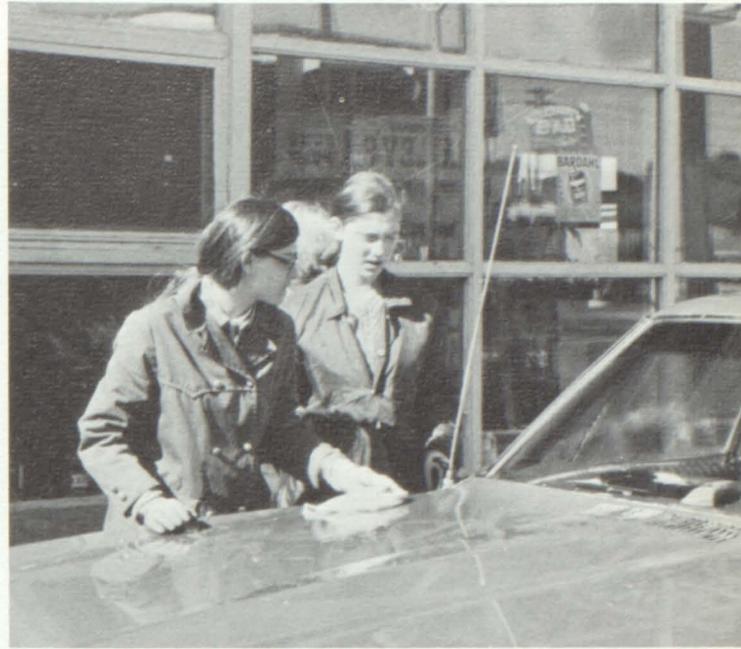

You're kidding! Entre Nous is for girls only? Judy Engstrom is a member of Entre Nous.

Experience Makes teachers

This year Donna Widmayer presided as president of the Future Teachers of America. Under the advisory of Mr. Sheldon Johnson, Mr. Westland, and Mr. Schmitke, high school students learn more about their chosen profession in teaching. "To give students knowledge of what teaching is really like and what goes on behind the teaching scene," is the purpose of FTA as stated by Georgia Bicanich. Speakers at the club meetings have lectured on SLD classes, college courses required, and new teaching methods. In the spring seniors will have the opportunity to supervise classes at the elementary schools.

Part of being a teacher is giving advice. Laurie Prue receives hers from Darrel Swenson.

Michelle Radosevich, Mary Jo Snyder, and Anita Buvarp listen intently to the future plans of the club for the state convention.

Toward New Horizons

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization open to any student who has had one semester of home economics. Although the Virginia Chapter is not very large, it is engaged in a variety of activities. The club serves coffee 'an at the local nursing homes and plans special events for holidays. Each year the Virginia Chapter sponsors a "Daddy-Date Night," which is a special night planned just for the dads and daughters. The closing event of the year is the Mother-Daughter Banquet, at which the mothers are honored. Alice Bonnicatto, the club advisor, assists the members in all their plans. This year's president is Vicky Gilbert, who is also on the State Election Committee.

At the district meeting, Patty Salo of Virginia was elected District II Vice-President. Several delegates will also attend the state meeting in March.

We have more than just an exchange

Under the advisory of Mr. Tom Moeller, this year's AFS has been quite successful. Beginning with a December bake sale to raise spending money for our German exchange student, Ursula Boch, the club has worked closely with both Ulla and her American family. Also included in this year's activities was the Student vs. Teacher hockey game.

This year, Virginia was the scene of one of the Range AFS weekend. Here, foreign exchange students gathered for a weekend of cultural exchanges as well as parties and dances.

The club's goal is to make the "transplanted student" feel more comfortable in the foreign surroundings of Virginia. They hope that Ulla Boch will remember Virginia AFS friendships.

Music is a "rain of diamonds"

Inspired by the enthusiastic direction of Dallis Frandsen, the A Cappella Choir has achieved an outstanding rank among high school choirs of Minnesota.

The 75 member choir presents annual winter and spring concerts for the public's enjoyment. During these concerts the choir performs spiritual, contemporary, and classical selections. Solos, ensembles, and mad-ragals are also featured at the concerts.

The Minnesota Music Education Association has chosen the A Cappella Choir as one of four Minnesota high school choirs featured at their February convention in St. Paul. Other planned concerts include trips to St. Scholastica, Gustavus Adolphus, and Duluth Central. Again this year the choir sold REX to raise funds for their trip expenditures.

Larry Groves who is presently directing the Mixed Choir also uses all styles of music when participating in the two concerts. The Mixed Choir achieved a star rating in last year's choir concert. In fact, both choirs intend to enter this year's contest.

Hair, gowns, and even words to the songs are included in the last minute preparations for the winter concert.

No strings attached

Malone Hall resounds with strains of all types of music every Tuesday. The orchestra faithfully meets there to rehearse for their spring and fall concerts. Mr. Davis leads the ensemble in many well-known tunes.

At the end of the year the group is rewarded with a trip to Minneapolis. Here they have an exchange concert with one of the Minneapolis schools. The trip is not their only reward. The pleasure they have given their audiences has brought them inner satisfaction.

The band also plays at all of our home games and surprises us with music like "The Stripper" and the "1812 Overture." The band doesn't get payed for these performances so to boost their budget the band sold various household products to finance their trip to the cities. Hats off to our tremendous band.

GRA is a girls club that participates in sports during the year. Basketball and bowling were the first two sports. The girls signed up on teams they wished to play on. GRA gives a chance for senior, junior, and sophomore girls to keep fit and learn the meaning of good sportsmanship.

Chaos, Confusion and tears

Room 213 was ours. We ate there, we laughed there, we worked there, we swore there, much to often, we fought there. It was a year where ideas were shared and Bufferin was consumed.

We made a lot of noise way up there in the corner of second floor. You may have caught some of it, such as, "Your second Rohian installment is still due," "Your Camera Art picture money is still due," and "Please report to the Goodman Auditorium for group pictures to be retaken because somebody goofed." We seemed to be doing all right among ourselves too. "No way am I going to type that index," "Look that one up in Nancy's bible," "No Mike, you cannot leave the teachers out of the book," "Hey Big Daddy Denny," and "Crop you, too!"

Julie Prlina readily attacks her assignment.

Jeanne Byrne wants to know why they can't swear in the newspaper.

As the last deadline draws to a close, Mary Begich asks if it was all worth it.

The fight is on. A typical lunch hour in Room 213.

Rohian Staff

The Star of the North Staff.

The pen and quill

Despite a limited budget, more editions of the Star of the North were published this year than in years before. The tremendous job of editing the VHS newspaper rested on the shoulders of Donah Robinson and "Ole" Zupetz. Reporters, photographers, artists, and journalists filled the staff while facts of school events, pictures of happenings, caricature drawings, editorials about student apathy filled the papers. Mr. Ruthenbeck and his printing classes laid out and printed them. As advisor, Mrs. Hill has tried many new ideas, including an apprenticeship program which offers experience to future editors.

Reign in day, rain at night

Homecoming 1970 was the result of hard work and detailed planning. The voting for queen, the float building, the work-up of band formations, and the football practices were part of the many preparations.

At the Homecoming assembly, master of ceremonies, Tom Hafdahl, crowned Sherry Saxhaug queen. Guest speaker, former Notre Dame tackle, Eric Norri, delivered the Homecoming message which pertained to the late Vince Lombardi's motto, "What comes easy in life isn't worth having."

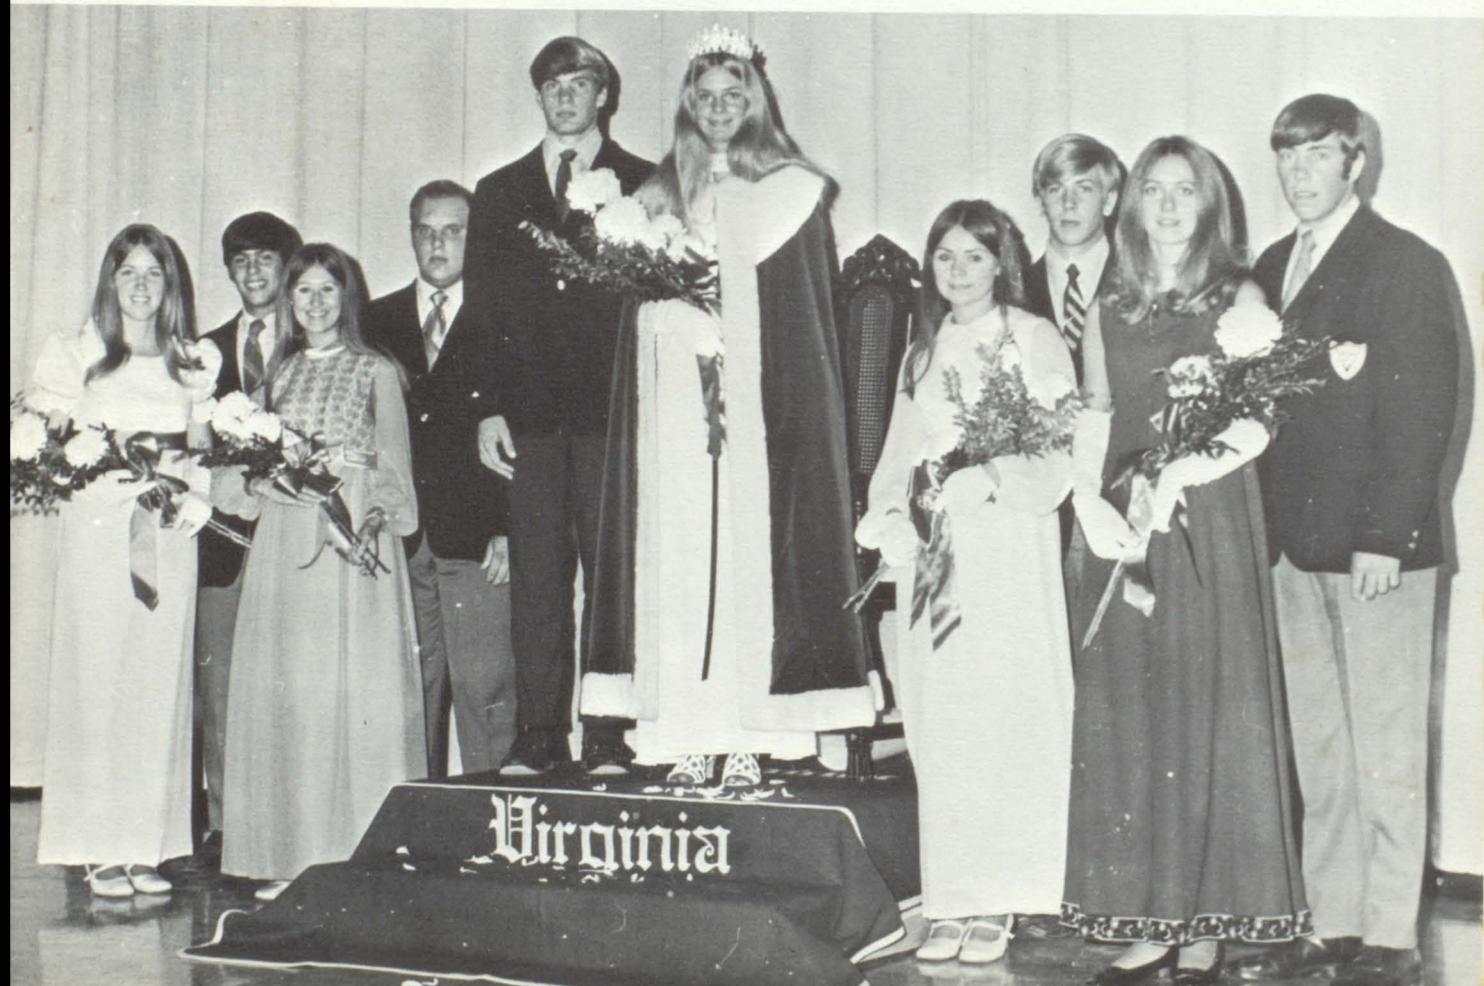

Despite the foul weather, VHS boosters turned out in full force to view the parade down Chestnut Street. For the first time in many years the Seniors did not take first place (or second place) in the float competition. The Juniors won and somehow the Sophomores managed to take second place honors.

By some streak of good luck the rain subsided just in time for the game. Blue Devil fans watched as their team played some of the best football all season. The Devils were fired up the first half, rolling up a 13-0 lead. But all too soon the Chisolm Blue Streaks overpowered the Devils. Even though we did not "Make Chisolm Trail," we Virginia Blue Devils had some spirit-stirring moments in our Homecoming game of 1970.

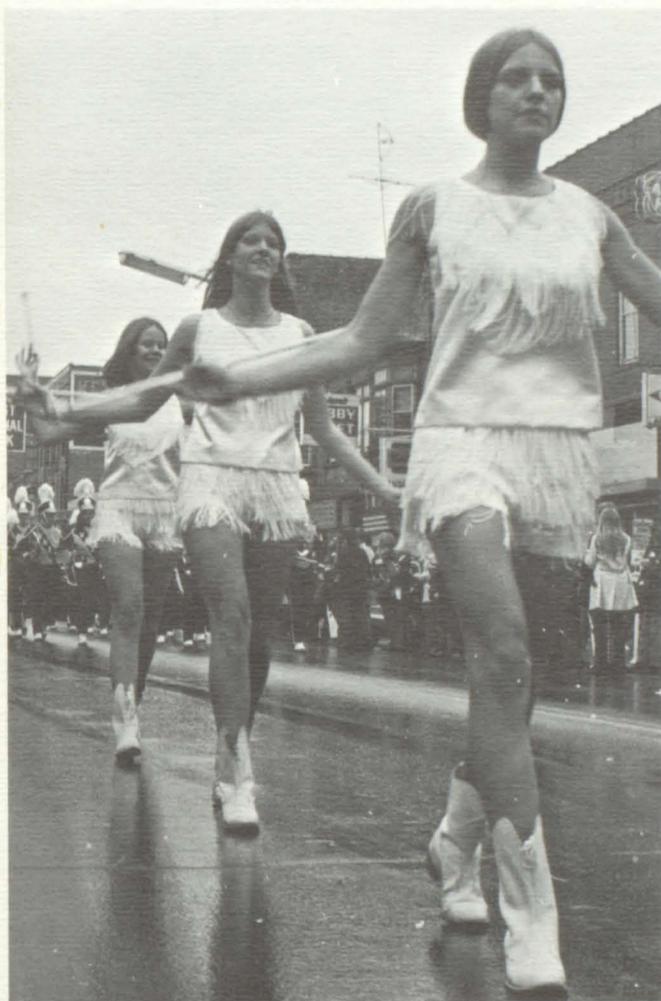

Debbie Wheeler flexes off another Virginia loss.

Pink Panther creates "Hot pink sales."

Under the direction of Mrs. Stolberg, planning for the 1970 Magazine Drive got underway.

Kick-off for the Drive was an assembly on October 6. Several Senior boys, including the glamorous Dick Curtiss, demonstrated the correct and incorrect ways to sell magazines.

A quota of $12,000 was set for the Seniors and believe it or not, the aggressive class of '71' surpassed their quota by more than $2,000 to set an all-time record for VHS.

The individual quota of $40 did not present much of a problem to some Seniors such as Martha Swenson who achieved top sales honors. Pink Panthers were selected as the mascots for Seniors who reached their quotas.

Going beyond their quota of $2,500, the class of '72' also staged a very productive drive. The Juniors chose white dogs as their mascots for those who sold $25.

For the second record of the year, Linda Tuuri became the first female to be included in the traditional dunking event in the Roosevelt pool along with Mike Mattson and Lloyd Jones.

Outselling the boys, the overpowering females naturally ruled on Slave Day. Since the theme was military, common sights in the halls were sailors, generals, and ?? a clown ??

All successes must finally end sometime, somewhere, and somehow. Ending the Magazine Drive of 1970, the Senior Class party was held sometime, somewhere, and somehow!!!

Martha Kaughman, Andrea Bradish, Sherrill Peterson, Rich Olson, and Paul Haines proudly display their Pink Panther.

Tim Paulson, Chris Hagberg, Ursula Boch, Michelle Klima, Linda Tuuri, and Donna Widmayer can hardly wait for the magazine drive to begin.

"I know I'm cute," confesses Rodney Jackson, another victim of slave day.

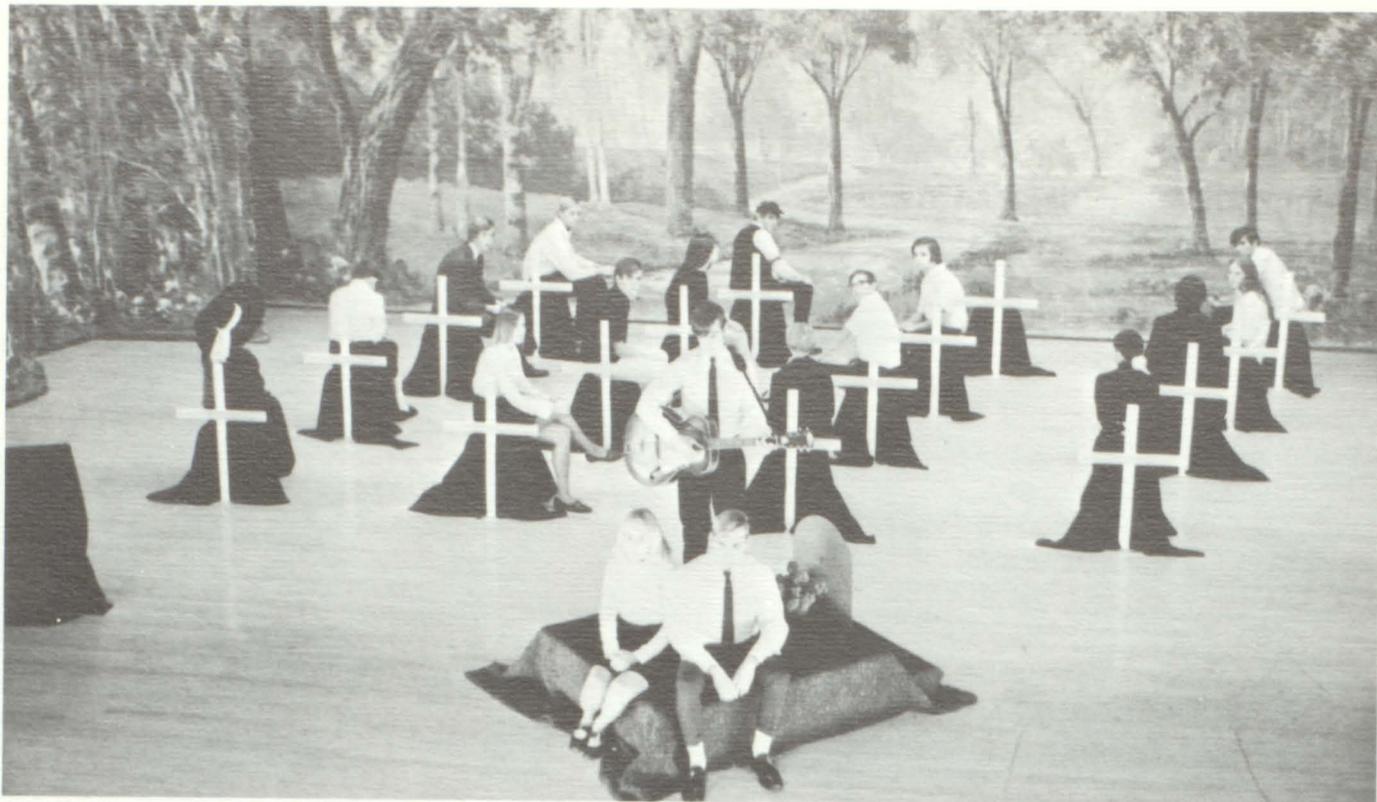

"If you don't sell, you're a maggot!" growls Doctor V, alias Mike Mattson.

Mrs. Stolberg gives last minute instructions to Helen Friedlieb.

With mixed emotions, the Senior team captains prepare for a busy, two-week magazine drive.

All are sleeping, sleeping on the hill

"Spoon River Anthology," a most unusual kind of play written by Edgar Lee Masters, was selected as this year's all school fall play. Under the direction of Tony Turk, with the help of Gene Rozcniak, student director, and all the members of the production crews, the cast gave a stunning performance on the night of November sixth, and left the whole audience amazed.

The play itself was about life and all its facets — joy, sadness, love, death, beauty. The characters in the cemetery came to life and told their stories which pointed out something about life and the human condition. In fact, the irony of the whole thing is that it can easily be compared to the people of today. Costumes were all in black and white and the makeup was plain. Special lighting effects helped the mood and a certain awe was created in the audience, which left them thinking:

"You're haunted, you're haunted, wherever you roam, Spoon River, Spoon River is calling you home."

Sing along with Peter, Ralph, Gene, and Rich backstage!

Ok, everyone, breath in ... Ready? Go! One, two, three, four, five, six, ...

I am no longer with you. Do what you will ... Dave Sabart ends the play.

I loath you Spoon River! Bill Godmare eyes the audience.

Everyone has their own cross to bear.

Harvest Moon Shines on Friday, November Thirteenth, crept on and all who were involved in this year's Tournabout were excited and nervous. Last minute decorations were being put up; dresses were being fit; hairdoes were being styled; and suits were being pressed. All were looking forward to the forthcoming evening.

"Harvest Moon," this year's theme, created an enchanting yet joyous mood. On entering the gym, a silhouette of a dancing couple greeted you and inside a scarecrow surprised you! The walls were decorated with enormous fruits and vegetables in various arrangements such as: squash, tomatoes, pumpkins, grapes, pears, and apples. Couples names were put on yellow and orange pumpkins scattered around the room as were the park benches. Gene and the Playboys entertained from in front of a huge yellow moon and everyone waltzed, did modern dances and even polkaed to their music. Due to lack of interest, there were a few changes this year—we had no Tournabout King and prizes weren't given out. However the evening turned out to be a memorable event in the year of 1970—1971.

Strangers in the Night of Harvest Moon are Linda Rodorigo and Mike Weiss.

Oh, we'll never finish on time! Yet Martha Rowell and Helen Friedlieb look for something to do.

I think we better leave now. Donna Widmayer and Tim Paulson send each other woeful looks.

Betty Phillipich and Jane Seppi are filling the horn of plenty.

He ain't heavy, he's my brother! Carole Byrd and Susan Oliver horse around while decorating.

CAST: Dave Sabart, Dave Richter, Peter Fleck, Tim Paulson, Holly Vontin, Mary Jane Poznanovic, Bill Godmare, Sally Henke, Kris Hill.

Life is a rocky road!

"The Lottery" is a conventional one-act play concerning the age old tradition of sacrifice. In the play Tessie Hutchison receives the bid for the town stoning and only then does she realize the unfairness of this barbaric custom.

The 1971 one-act play by Shirley Jackson was under the direction of Tony Turk and student directed by Ulla Bock. The cast and crew traveled to Ely to compete in District 28 competition where they received three A ratings.

The tension increases in the faces of Sally Henke, Holly Vontin, and Mary Jane Poznanovic as the lottery grows near.

John Renzaglia shouts one of his many lines to Eric Carlson and the audience.

Try to remember

The long running Broadway musical and parody of love, "The Fantasticks" was the 1971 production selected by Directors Dallis Frandsen and Larry Groves. From try-outs a cast of eight, an understudy, three student directors, and a chorus of sixteen were chosen.

The play revolves around the efforts of two fathers trying to bring their children together in love. A feud is staged over a garden wall between the families' homes. But the children see through the plot and are determined to hate instead of love each other. The antics of the fathers and their accomplices in this match-making musical prove to be comical, and in the end, successful for both parties.

Anne Pepelnjak serves at the Letterman's Spaghetti Supper.

On top of a Beaver, all covered with snow . . .

Snow 'em under

With the slogan "sno 'em" under, the 1971 VHS snow week was highlighted by snow-sculptering, bear-hanging, and royalty-crowning. Mounds of ice and snow were molded into the Senior's whale, two Sophomore feet and a beaver for which the Juniors won a trophy.

In mid-week the mighty Devils skated circles around Eveleth Bears in a victorious 6-4 game that will be long remembered by fans and jailbirds alike! Again on Friday, Eveleth was confronted by the big Blue Devil cagers, though this time the outcome was not as favorable as the first Devil-Bear encounter.

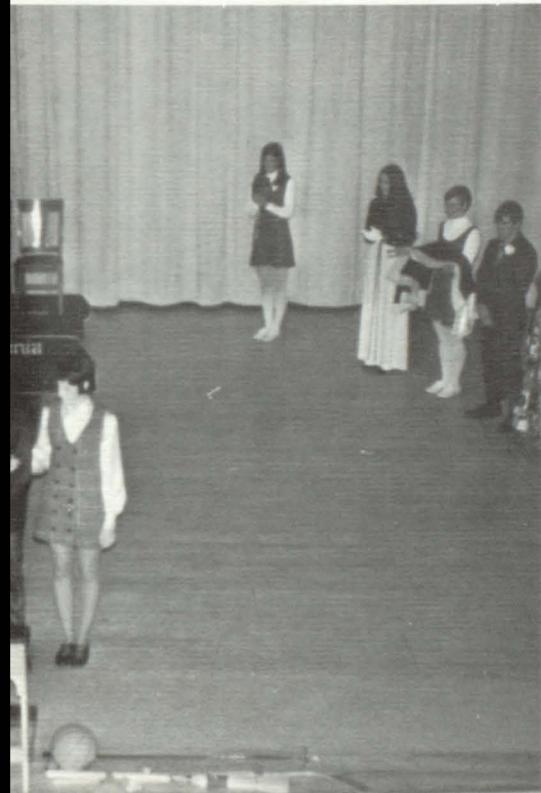

The traditional Winter Sports Festival assembly met with several new innovations. This year's crowning of royalty also included a King chosen by the Girl's Letter Club and the senior girls. King Ron Shoden and Queen Linda Richter were chosen quickly in a 10-0 countdown led by Donna Widmayer and Tom Hafdahl, presidents of their respective clubs.

We present to you Queen Linda Richter and King Ron "Dixie" Shoden.

Many things make up a school. These may include: classrooms, swimming pools, desks, books, paper, pencils, films, and many other articles. One major item has been omitted from this list:

PEOPLE.

People are the flesh and blood part of the school such as teachers, counselors, administrators, janitors, workmen, students, or whatever that use the other objects. People teach, learn, talk with friends, find that special boy or girl, become the football hero or basketball goat, crowd the halls, make a good school, make a bad school, form an energetic, lively school, form a dead, apathetic school, cheer on the team, scream at the ref, spend nights in Bill's, play pool in LaCue, use long hours practicing for athletics, study to keep up their grades, earn letters, run and organize clubs and march in the band. Alone, the physical facilities are useless because people are the unmeasurable human element that are needed to use these facilities, make the school interesting, and fun to be part of. People are what count in a school. Schools can exist without facilities but they can't exist without people. Here, at Roosevelt, we had the people to make lively, enjoyable events and create good memories for the year, 1971.

We captured emotions both in school and out — Steppenwolf.

We travel 1st class

The class of 1971 was the class of many firsts. For us it was the:

- 1st football win in two years . . .
- 1st "loaf of bread" that didn't raise . . .
- 1st year of consolidation with Embarrass and Pike-Sandy . . .
- 1st successful magazine slave day . . .
- 1st year of the "Texan invasion . . ."
- 1st school improvements since our grandma's went to school . . .
- 1st active student council . . .
- 1st in being the largest class . . .
- 1st graduation exercises to be held in the Miner's Memorial.

Steve Rogers and Alice should get together in WONDERland.

Ursula Therese Boch

Usually all smiles Ulla is caught in a moment of contemplation.

Ulla, with great expression, practices her lines for Spoon River.

Dying to go to California — never heard of Minnesota

When Ursula Boch of Kornelinuster, Germany was informed of her AFS home in Virginia, Minnesota she had mixed feelings. First of all Ulla had never heard of Minnesota and couldn't even find Virginia on her map! (Secretly she was "dying to go to California".) But after looking our fair city over Ulla has decided to stay.

Ulla's main desire to be a foreign exchange student was to have the chance to know many different people. One thing she has learned about Americans is that "You never, never walk! You should slow down!"

Ulla's idea about life is experience something yourself. She feels one has to experience something before he can appreciate it. That is why Ursula Boch came to the USA — to experience it and hopefully appreciate it.

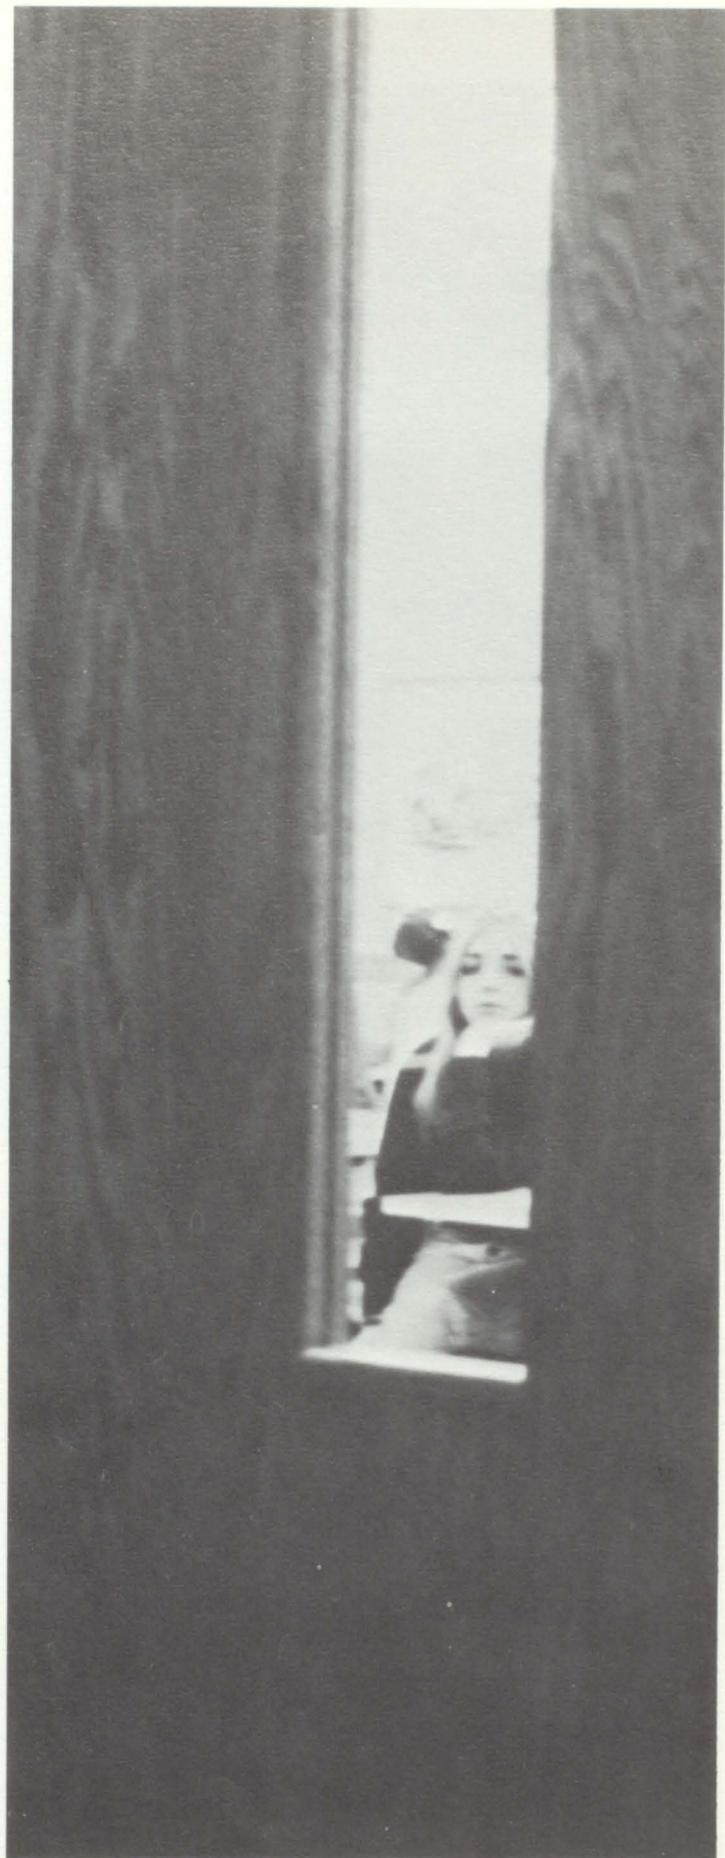

JUNIORS

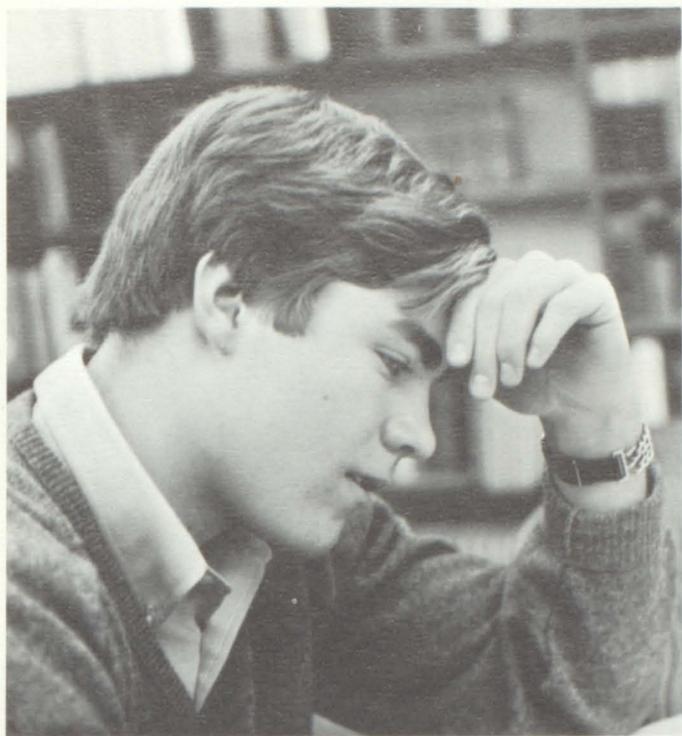

The Class of "72" is a mixture of neat people, duds, and generally hard working students. In spite of all our obvious handicaps, we built a prize-winning float. Our dog and the unique "lick 'em" slogan beat the Sophomore's cash register and the Senior's covered wagon!!

Harvest Moon, the Turnabout, proved to be quite different. Though we were not all in the best condition, we acted as Juniors would be expected.

In the magazine drive, each Junior was worth $11.40, which was our individual quota. The class didn't outdo themselves as you might expect, but we made our quota all the same.

The Juniors did mighty well considering we are in the middle of everything at VHS. The Class of "72" will reign forever!

I'd like to see D. J. do this one, Dave Richter ponders over a problem.

Sophomore Sentiment

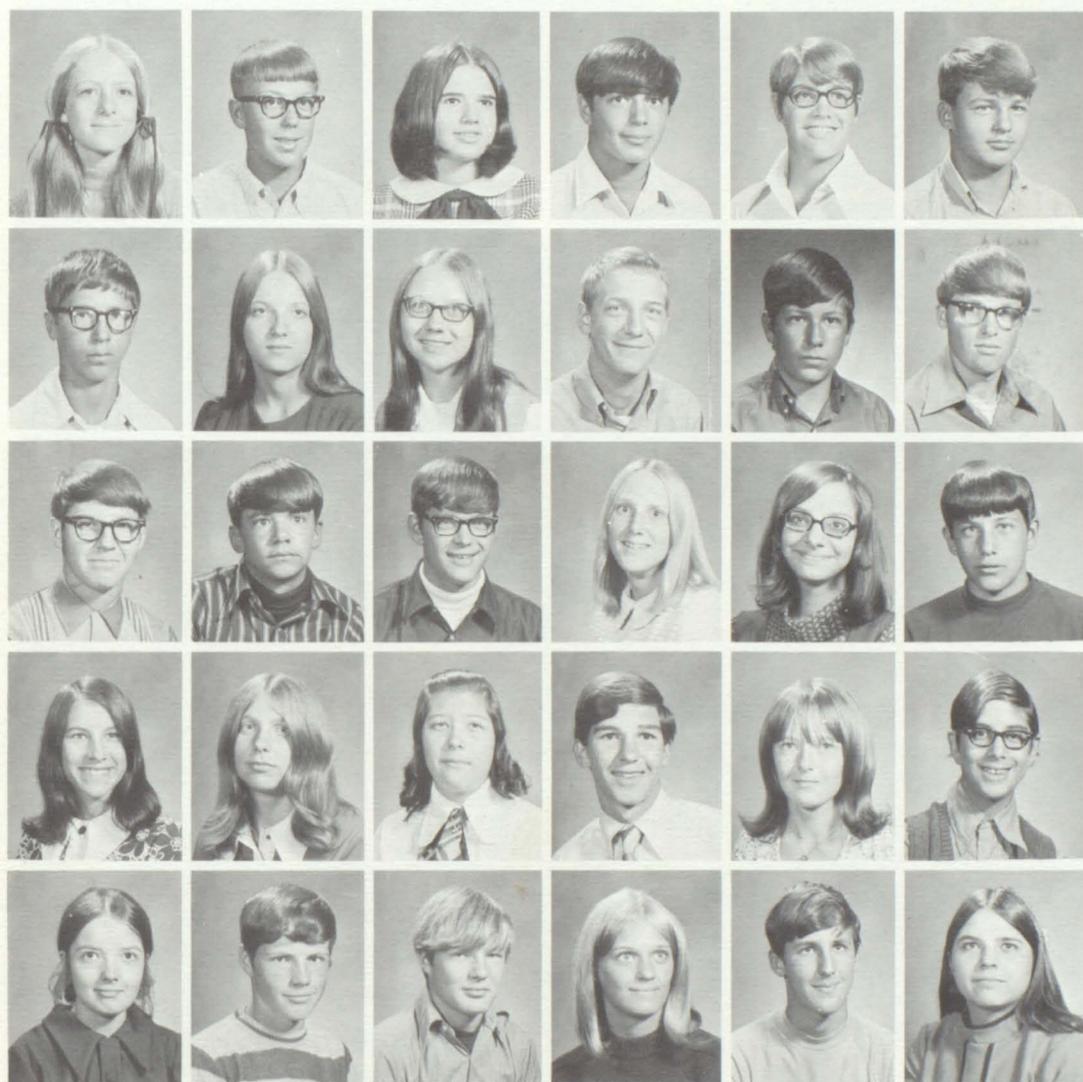

Ah, to be a Sophomore ... freedom ... responsibility ... plans for the future ... classes to later help ... thinking of scholarships ... emphasis on grades ... getting involved ... building floats ... clubs ... more drama ... parties ... the Turnabout. Enjoy it well, it's here, for tomorrow ... we will be Juniors

"Don't say I did it," pleads Mike Norman.

Togetherness . . . It really works

The building of our float was the first time that our class got together and worked. And, boy did we! But, those hours of planning, stuffing, nailing, making flowers, and arranging will always be sometime memories for most of us. On Thursday night, to watch scissors cutting, paper rolling, and fingers flying, one would think that we'd been born building floats. There was no goofing off. Everybody put an uncommon effort in producing the Number 2 float. Maybe we didn't win first place, but we learned that togetherness is what counts.

For us seniors the 1971 saw us communicate. We grew closer together, more tightly knit until a graduation ceremony exploded us into our own separate futures. To us, this separation was not the end but only the beginning for more fantastic experiences in the years to come.

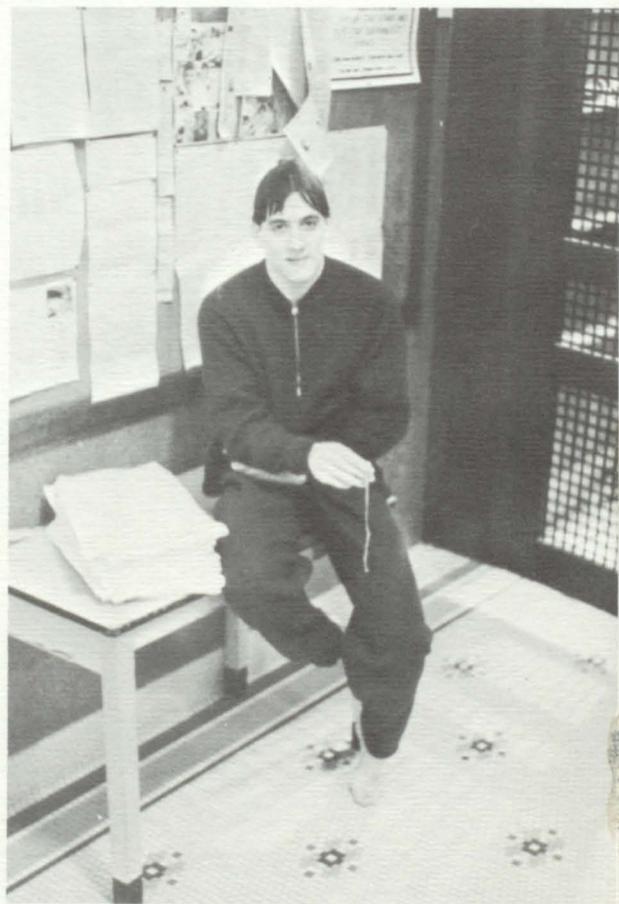

For us Juniors and Sophomores, 1971 checked off another year on the count down toward our own explosions. We too worked together and grew together, and we too will wait together for the end and our own beginning.

It was a very good year. After all it was 1971.

Editor's note

This book can't tell it all: the emotions and the memories cannot really be recorded on paper. A photographer can show the action, but only suggest the atmosphere.

This book can tell the story of all the people we knew, and a few we didn't; of the place and of the things we did that made the place and the people memorable.

Words cannot express what goes into a yearbook. Only the few out of many people who work on putting it together can imagine the time and work put into the ROHIAN. There were many friends who stopped in now and then to see us in action but they can't imagine the pressures built on the week of a deadline or the friendships lost over the things you must do to edit a book.

This ROHIAN is your yearbook: look at it, read it, and share it with your friends.

Co-Editors,

Nancy Angelo
Anne Bennets

Howard, in the first one signing this that. Did you know remember you, I guess. You'd better write to me now. When are you coming up to
Minnesota - the land of 10,000 lakes?
Remember all the times we had in Sunday school, and Sr. High fellow ship and trying to make you laugh up in the choir during church? Remember how I used to argue about silly things? - Well
I still do.
Miss year has sure gone by fast for me - almost too fast. I can't really believe that I'm graduating. Seems like it's just another ritual that I must live through. Take care and have a great future.
Love
Sarah
